We have recommendations on how to take action, but the decisions you make upon reading it are up to you. UPDATE 12/5/2022: Candy has deleted the K-Singing server, the Momo Bot support server, and appears to have blanked his Discord profile. No attempts to disprove any allegations seen in this document or this much lengthier one (CW: grooming) were made.

UPDATE: It appears this has gone back into circulation as of December 2022, with claims that it is evidence from "5+ years ago". It should be obvious that the Discord UI in the screenshots does not match how the service looked in 2017, and for the sake of argument, this document came to fruition in September 2022. Baseless claims and dismissing something as being okay because it was "long ago" is not right.

Introduction

If you already know what K-Singing is and who Candy is, you can skip this section.
K-Singing (https://discord.gg/kpop) is a Discord karaoke server formed sometime in 2017 with around 56.4k members at the time of this writing. The server is owned by Candy#4000 (Discord User ID 574290999489069057).

Abridged Explanation

As of late, a slew of negative interactions regarding Candy have occurred, not limited to banning the entire staff team that was present on September 21st 2022, replacing them with underage children who have been on the server for little over a month, and attempting to twist the stories about what has happened regarding the previous staff members. Not only this, but Candy has had a history of demanding the server staff to take action on something while taking little to no initiative himself as the owner of the server. Candy has not stuck with the same story each time, but it can be boiled down to false claims that the staff members were going to "raid" the server, that they were "toxic" and banned people without a justifiable reason, and that they were "bullying" Candy. This is not only a very one-sided story, but is far from the truth. Candy has attempted to falsify evidence about what has actually happened in the form of deleting messages from those who attempted to explain what was going on, and even going so far as to completely silence anyone who spoke about the problem in the form of various mutes, bans, and deleting of messages explaining behaviors.

We cannot guarantee Candy will leave other explanatory messages up, so a backup of the server's contents from September 21st has been made and will be included at the end of this document. We have tried to save as much as we can, but Candy had already deleted some of the messages and images once it started.
Note: The "full" backups are quite large. The context of the situation(s) are in "lounge" and "voice-chat" from 9-21-2022.

Full (September 21st 2022)

Start (11 - 12AM UTC)

K-Singing server staff have channels only accessible to certain roles. In a chat which is exclusive for moderators and above, Candy posted a message warning that any staff members who were "inactive" would be removed from the team. He went on to define "inactive" not for being online and keeping bad actors out of the server, but those who are not on the main server chats and in voice chats often. Several staff members asked him why he was suddenly saying this, and he responded by saying that it was simply a joke. Conversation between much of the staff team and Candy occurred for around half an hour, until it derailed heavily.

K-Singing Co-owner announces departure (12AM UTC)

Annie, the co-owner of K-Singing up until 2022/9/21, had made a message announcing her departure as co-owner. Unfortunately, the contents of the message were not saved as Candy almost immediately deleted her message explaining her departure shortly after she posted it. One of the pieces that was in this message was that she was going to give the server moderators the same levels of power that Administrators had, as she was the one who handled much of the server's layout, moderation process, events, and so on.

Annie gave Admins and Mods administrator perms because staff who willingly stay in that position on a server for 2+ years should be trusted enough to manage the server, especially as she was the one doing all of the things that the owner could easily have taken control of but decided not to do. This is not limited to figuring out and taking action on how to improve the server like he demands it to be done, including getting the server member count up, looking for ways to get funds for his bot which he mentions repeatedly, spending hours to decorate the server layout, putting a lot of time and effort into editing banners and gif icons in Photoshop because that's how he has requested it, hosting multiple events, training staff, spending so many hours in making role menus, and much more. Candy could've done any of these himself but instead relied solely on the Co-Owner to make those changes for him.

Candy's reaction and response to the departure (12AM - 6PM UTC

This is split into parts due to the sheer length of it. Image links will be included by each screenshot so you can open them in full screen (still working on this).

Instant deletion of every staff member

In response to Annie's departure and her means of making sure the staff would be able to have the same abilities to keep the server going as she did, she granted the moderators the same role permissions as the administrators, and also deleted some of the roles that she had created and no one appeared to be making any use of. For reasons unknown, Candy interpreted this as Annie attempting to "raid" the K-Singing server, and punishes the entire staff team as the result of one person's actions by deleting every single staff role without warning. It is important to note that Annie contacted Candy about what she was going to do with the roles before she made any of the breaking changes. Understandably, the staff that realized what was going on were not happy about it, asking Candy for an explanation. At the same time while this was happening, Candy was actively deleting messages sent by Annie which explained what conflict was taking place and began deleting messages from anyone that referenced what was going on in any way, shape, or form. This was an active attempt to tamper evidence about Annie trying to peacefully leave the server, both in the public eye and from the hidden staff channels.

Candy updated roles for mr.poopybutthole

The images above show Candy's attempt to tamper with evidence showing what was going on in K-Singing. This is not limited to deleting several messages in public and private channels but also deleting every staff role to effectively delete each staff member, even though none of them had anything to do with what had happened up to that point. It can be seen where Candy originally updated the roles, likely to reverse the changes Annie made, but strangely decided that deleting each and every staff role made more sense, all *without saying a word to any of the staff members. It should be noted that if Candy stuck with his original decision and had simply undone Annie's changes, the outcome for the server probably would have been very different and far less tense. Image link 1 Image link 2 Image link 3 Image link 4

Candy's initial attempt at dodging responsibility

In response to what was going on, Candy decides to go on the route of making up an entirely false narrative about what Annie and the rest of the staff were doing. His response boils down to Annie and each and every staff member attempting to "raid" the server, and that everything each one of them was saying was a lie. This argument invalidates itself in that not every staff member was online for several hours while this was going on. It is hard to say that deleting unused roles that the Co-Owner made is a "raid", especially when Candy has allegedly been online for several self-botted spam raids, of which he had zero response to each time. Relevant screenshots will be attached below with context.

Why

A few staff members realize that Candy had deleted every single staff role, and a member questions why. Note that every staff member in this screenshot has been either banned or stripped of all roles without any given reason. [Image link]

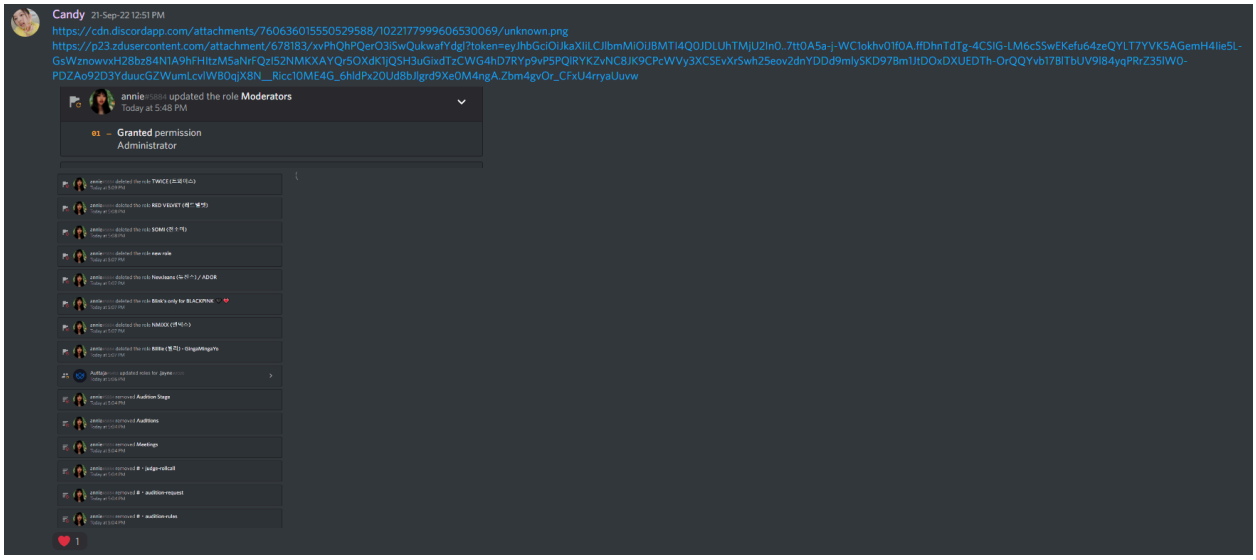
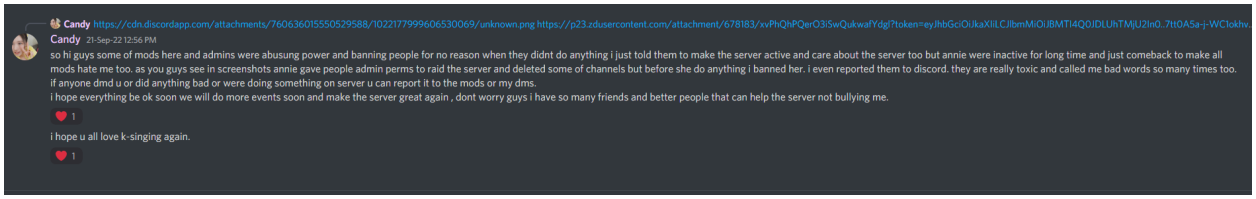
Members conversate about the sudden removal of every staff member, with one member commemorating what they had done for the server.





Candy 21-Sep-22 12:56 PM
so hi guys some of mods here and admins were abusung power and banning people for no reason when they didnt do anything i just told them to make the server active and care about the server too but annie were inactive for long time and just comeback to make all mods hate me too. as you guys see in screenshots annie gave people admin perms to raid the server and deleted some of channels but before she do anything i banned her. i even reported them to discord. they are really toxic and called me bad words so many times too. if anyone dmd u or did anything bad or were doing something on server u can report it to the mods or my dms.
i hope everything be ok soon we will do more events soon and make the server great again , dont worry guys i have so many friends and better people that can help the server not bullying me.
i hope u all love k-singing again.

Candy's falsified claims in the announcements channel. Zero evidence of "abusing power", "banning people for no reason" and "raid the server" is shown. It is true that he did tell the staff to "make the server active", but gave zero information on how to do so. His screenshots show zero evidence of any moderator doing malicious activity. The channels Candy is referring to were hidden from public view for over a year and the roles Annie deleted were not being used. She had simply removed some of the unused work she had done for the server.

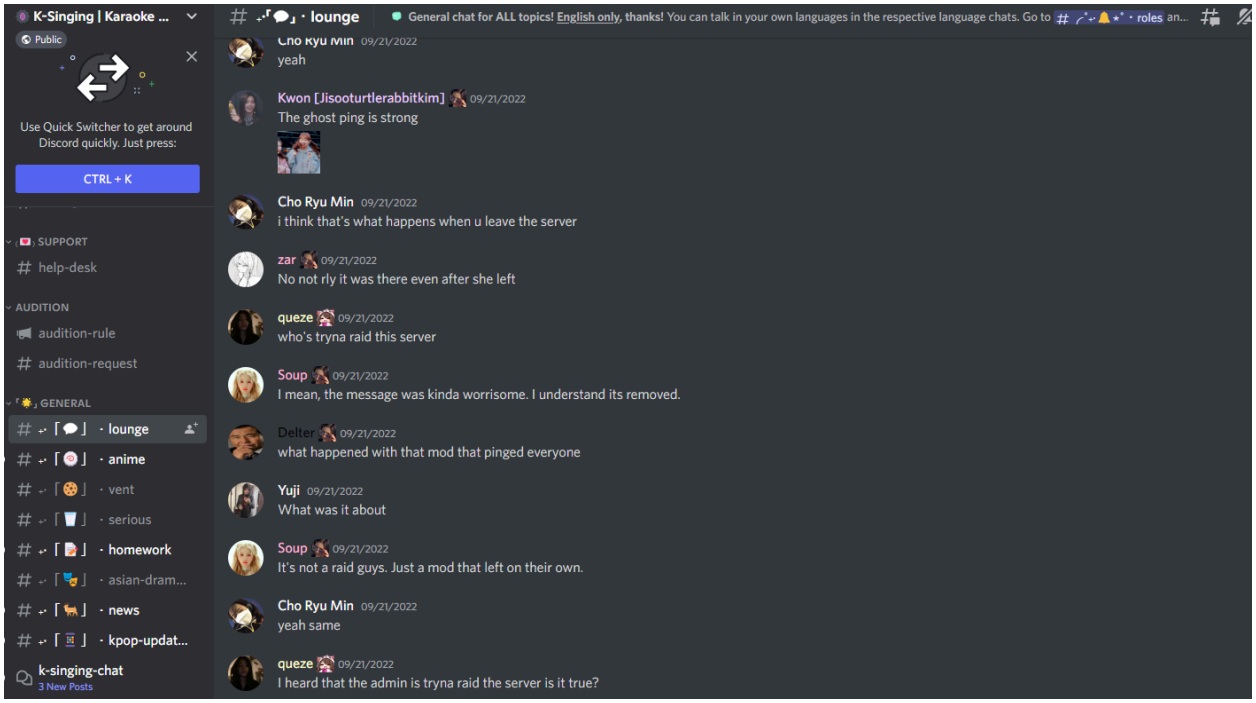
Both of these messages have since been deleted by Candy, but are viewable in the server backup at the bottom of this document. The image links have been archived just in case Candy deletes those also. Candy's image 1 Candy's image 2 Alt. image link

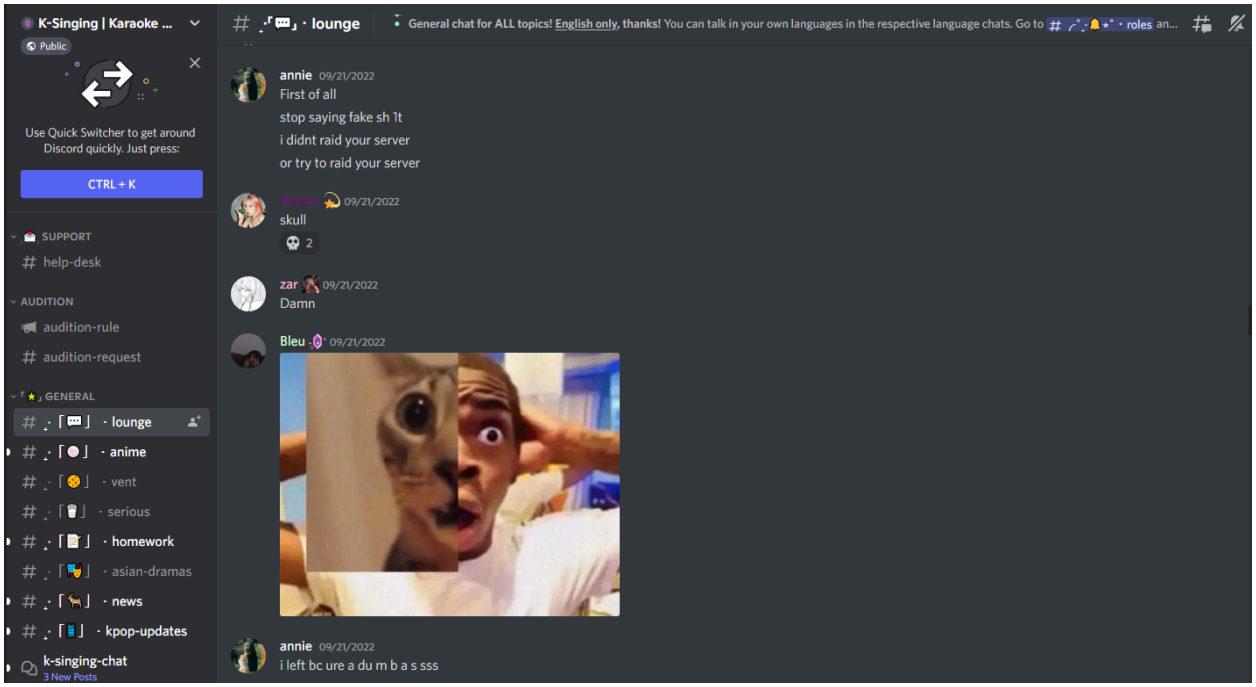


Members begin to respond to the false claims that Candy had made, with one member attempting to explain what had truly happened. Annie left on her own accord.

Staff attempt to talk with Candy in “lounge”

Annie was informed of the blanket of lies Candy was attempting to spread in announcements, and rejoined the server to explain what actually happened. Much of what Candy said in his conversation with Annie was deleted, likely another attempt to hide any evidence of him doing anything wrong. Whether it worked out for him is ultimately up to anyone reading this.

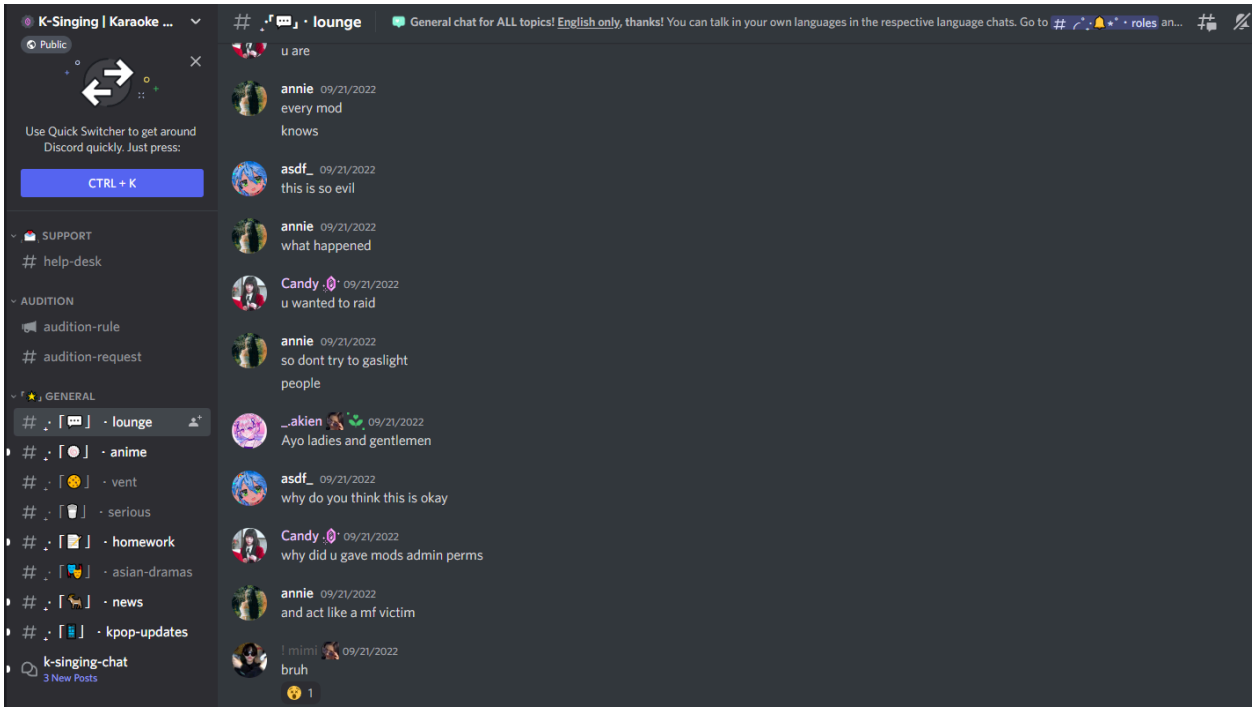
Relevant screenshots with context are below.



What was left of the beginning of Candy and Annie's conversation. The deletion of selected messages was done as an attempt to further frame Annie as the one in the "wrong". Unfortunately, Candy had already deleted his beginning response by the time the backup process began. Alternative image link

Annie continues to explain what had happened. Staff member "asdf" joins in about the deletion of all staff. Candy's only rebuttal in this is "u are" with zero explanation or evidence.

[Alternative image link]



Candy says that Annie “wanted to raid”, yet Annie had discussed the role changes she was going to do with Candy in private beforehand. He was willingly ignoring such in an attempt to get others against Annie. I[mage link]

Annie breaks down Candy’s gaslighting attempt, of which he does not respond. [Image link]

Staff member “maybe” also joins in. Annie is in the middle of explaining what had been happening, while Candy’s response is “i got screenshots” but does not share any of these so-called screenshots or even say what the screenshots are. Staff “maybe” also points out his apparent lack of input into the internal discussion in a staff-only chat, yet is quick to share lies about what was happening with Annie. [Image link]

Staff members talked with one another about what was going on, namely how Annie and Admin “gaga” were banned mid-conversation without reason. This was a very deliberate attempt to silence them. [Image link]

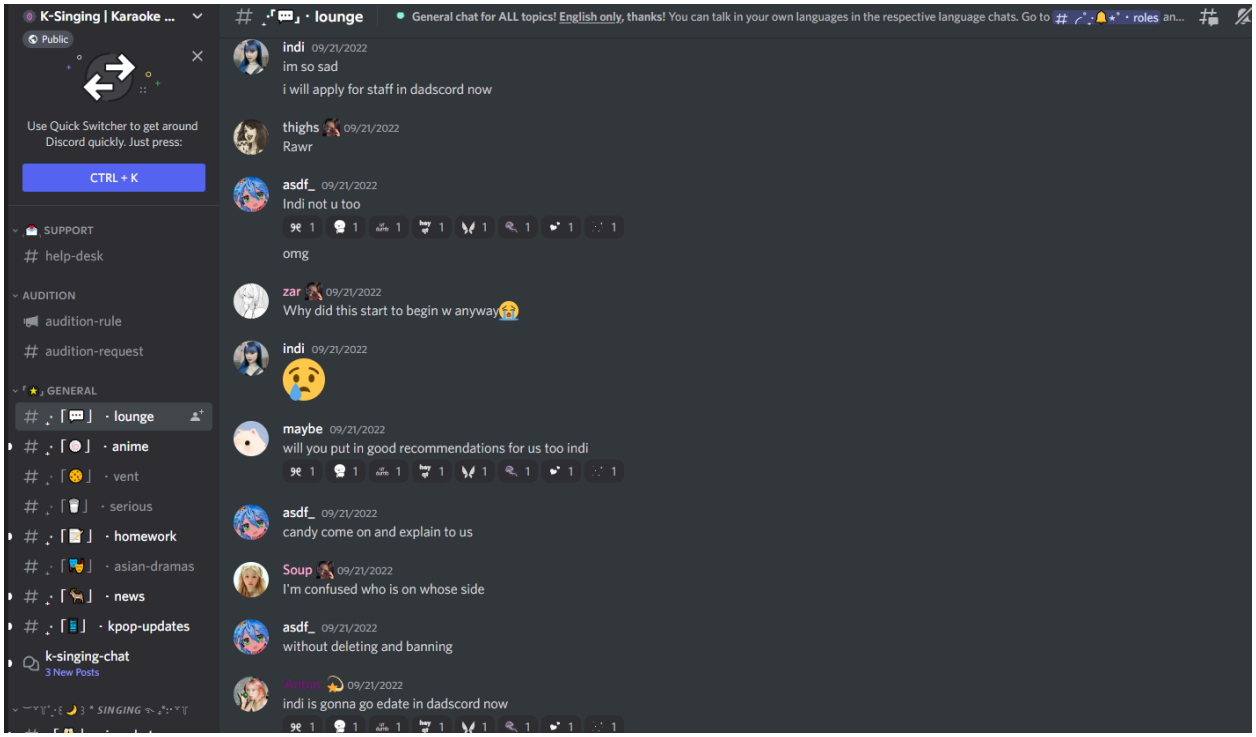
A member agrees with the questions that staff member “asdf” raised. [Image link]



Staff member “indi” comes online and notices she too is demoted. Candy is nowhere to be seen. [Alternative image link]

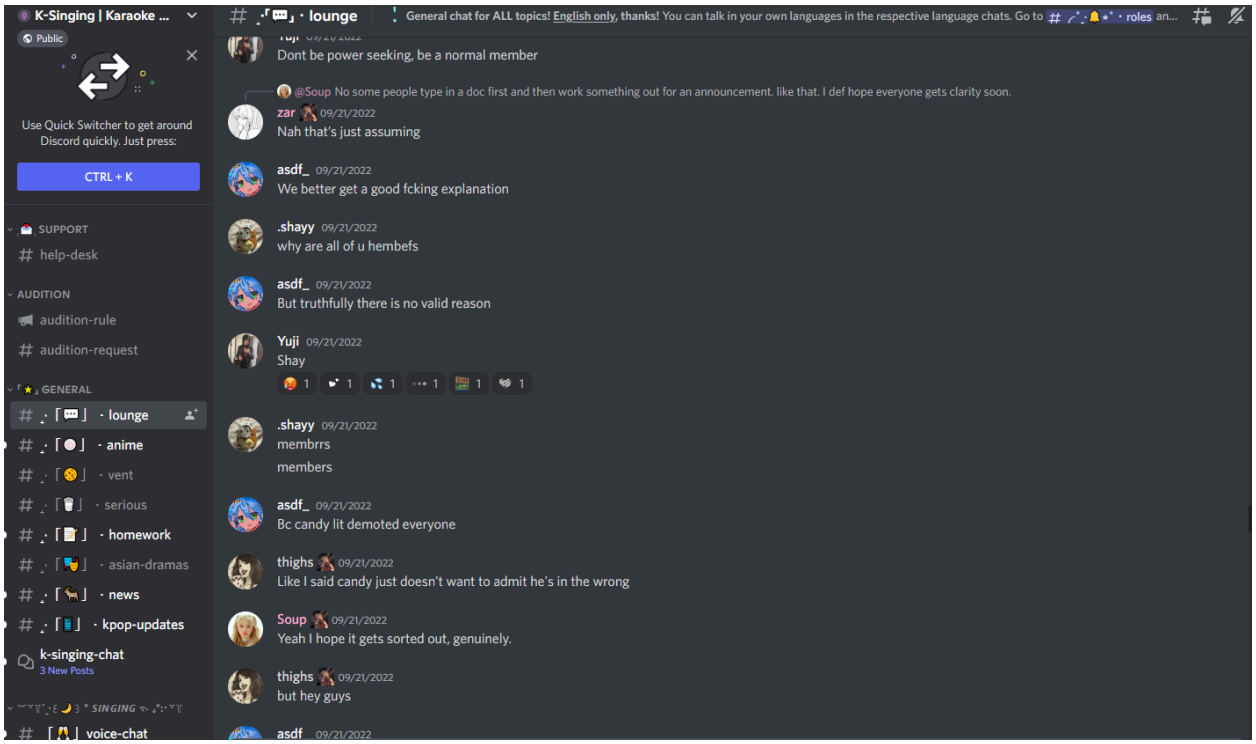
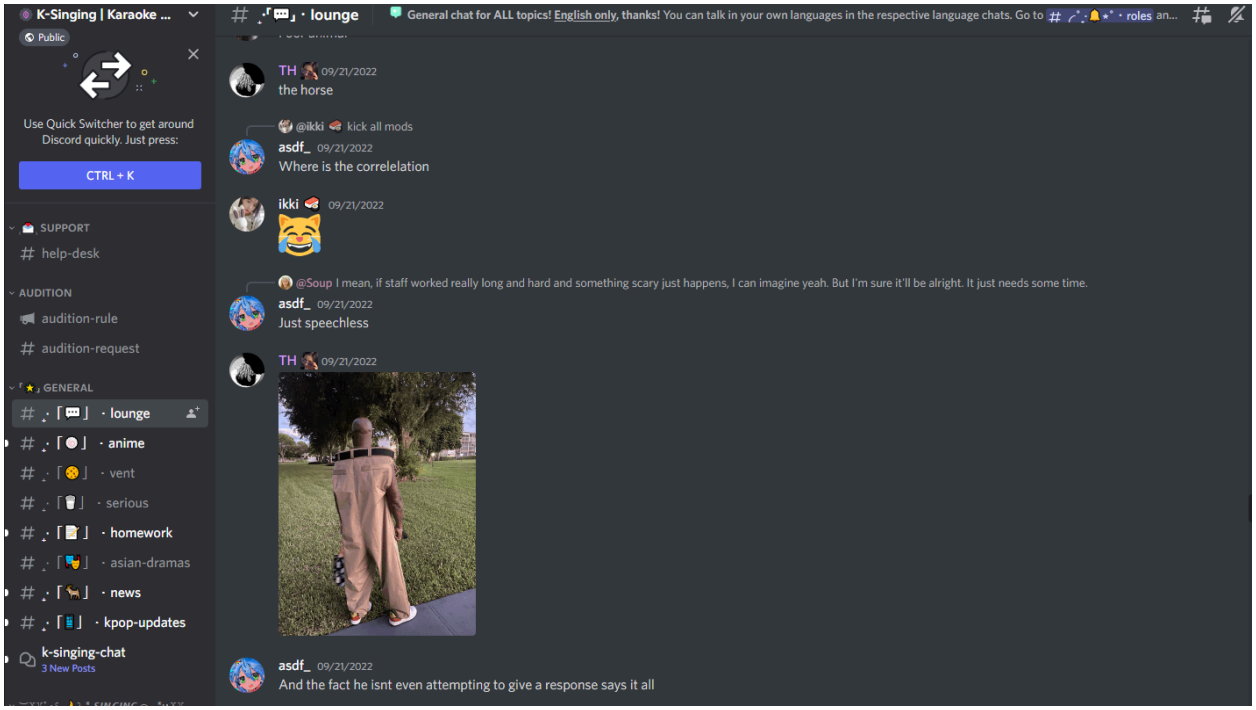
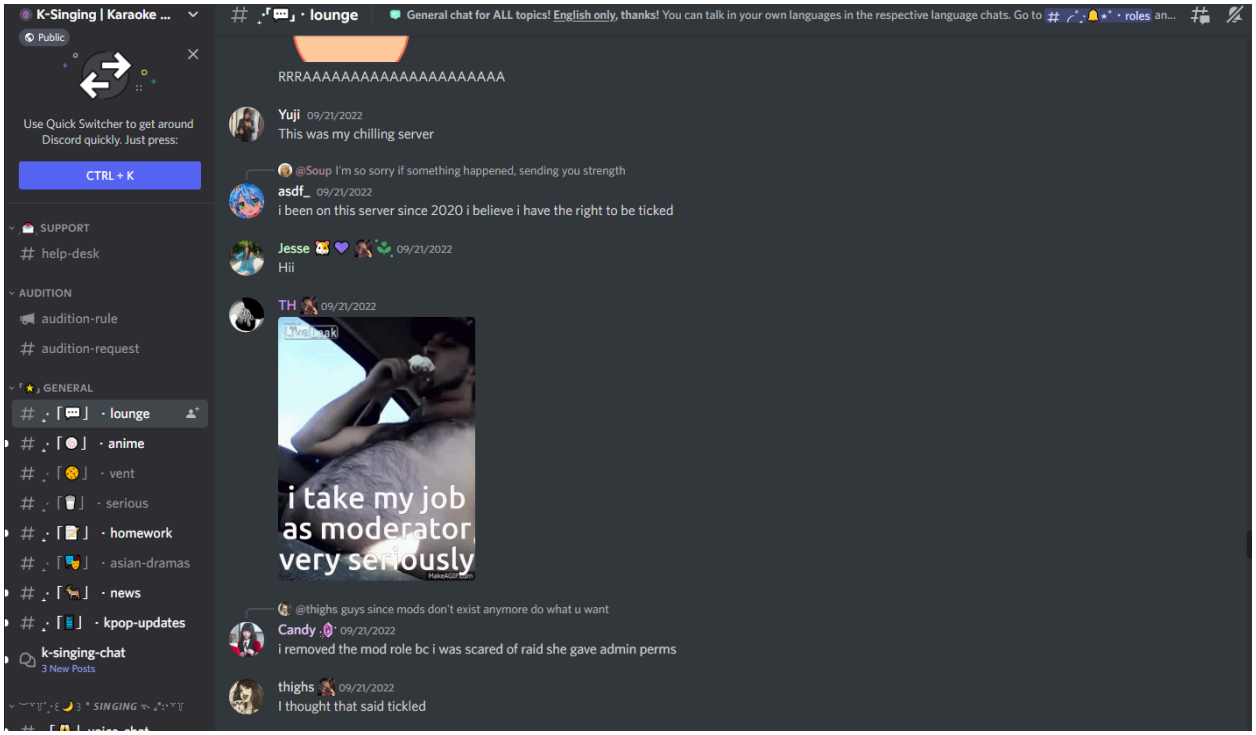
Staff member “thighs” explains Candy’s apparent inability to hear other people’s opinions and an inability to accept when they are in the wrong. Staff member “asdf” makes a point on narcissism and how it may be affecting Candy. [Image link]



Much the same as the last screenshot, Candy has no response. [Image link]



Mostly the same as the last, Candy not responding with a member showing concern.
Image link



Candy responds 11 minutes later, claiming that he was “scared of raid” because she gave moderators the same role settings as admins. Not only would it make no sense for the staff of 2+ years to “raid” without warning, it has already been covered that Annie explained to Candy what she was going to do prior. Image link

Staff member “asdf” points out the fallacies in Candy’s statement, saying how it does not explain why each staff member was deleted and why he made zero attempt to communicate with any of the staff beforehand. [Image link]

Thighs tries to piece together why Candy is acting the way he does while he responds to a meme far faster than any of the questions the staff were asking. [Image link]

Discord mods when they get into a real life argument with someone and they can't mute, kick, or ban them

Staff member “asdf” points out the lack of communication Candy was giving any of them, while “thighs” says Candy had called them “dumb” for mentioning some of his past actions. [Image link]

Staff member “ikki” points out how they and the others were willingly staffed on the server for over two years. Despite this, Candy still believed they would “nuke” the server, according to what little he said on the matter. [Image link]

User “DarkFalcon” (Discord user ID 120586017316012034) is unbanned from the server. The user had previously been banned after allegations of pedophilia surrounded them.. He appears to be banned once again as of now, but this may change in the future. Not only that, but the blatant ignorance of what the staff has to say becomes even more apparent.

announcement. Candy responds by saying he “deleted roles that had admin perms”, which, if one views his audit log, shows that it was done after he reverted the permissions of those roles. There was no logical reason for him to fix the permissions first and then delete the roles. [Image link]

ikki points out the unprovoked ban of “gaga”, a previous admin, when the only form of contribution she had was asking for emotes to add to the server. Furthermore, Candy claims to “give again” to the staff, yet a member who was never previously staff was given a staff role beforehand. [Image link]

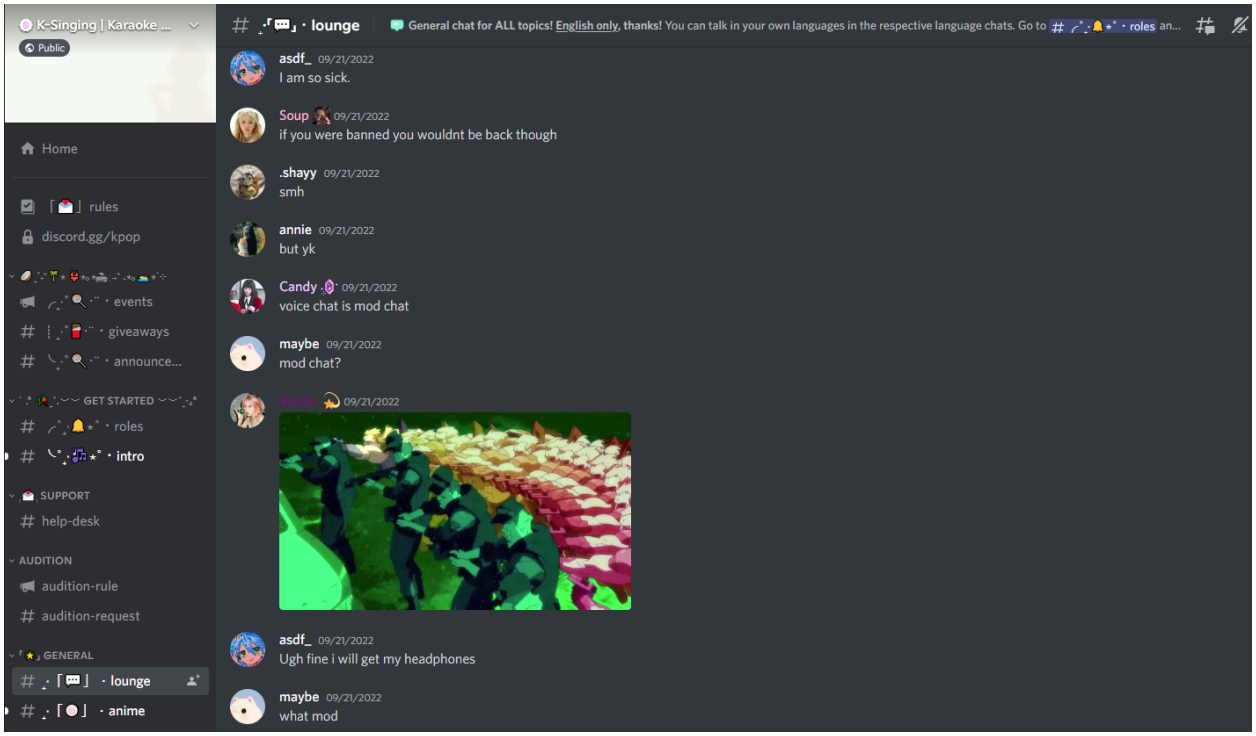
Candy explains why “guto” is appointed as staff. Previous staff members immediately pick this apart as a total lack of trust on Candy’s side, despite the contributions they all made *going back 2 years. [Image link]

Annie is temporarily unbanned and rejoins, explaining she was in fact banned by Candy while in the middle of explaining what was going on. Candy would go on to ban Annie and the rest of the staff later, so his reason for doing this is currently unknown. [Image link]



Candy announces what the voice chat named “voice-chat” is going to be used for. As staff members joined, they were moved to a locked room named “mod-vc”. There is going to be some overlap in the chronological order as some staff members did not immediately switch to talking in the voice chat. Image link

Staff member “asdf” comments on the private voice chat, to which Candy says “it give me stress”. Understandably, the staff comment on their stress also, which suggests that Candy did not or was not considering their emotional wellbeing, and was instead entirely focused on how he and solely he felt. The point of narcissism that “asdf” brought up seems relevant here. [Image link]

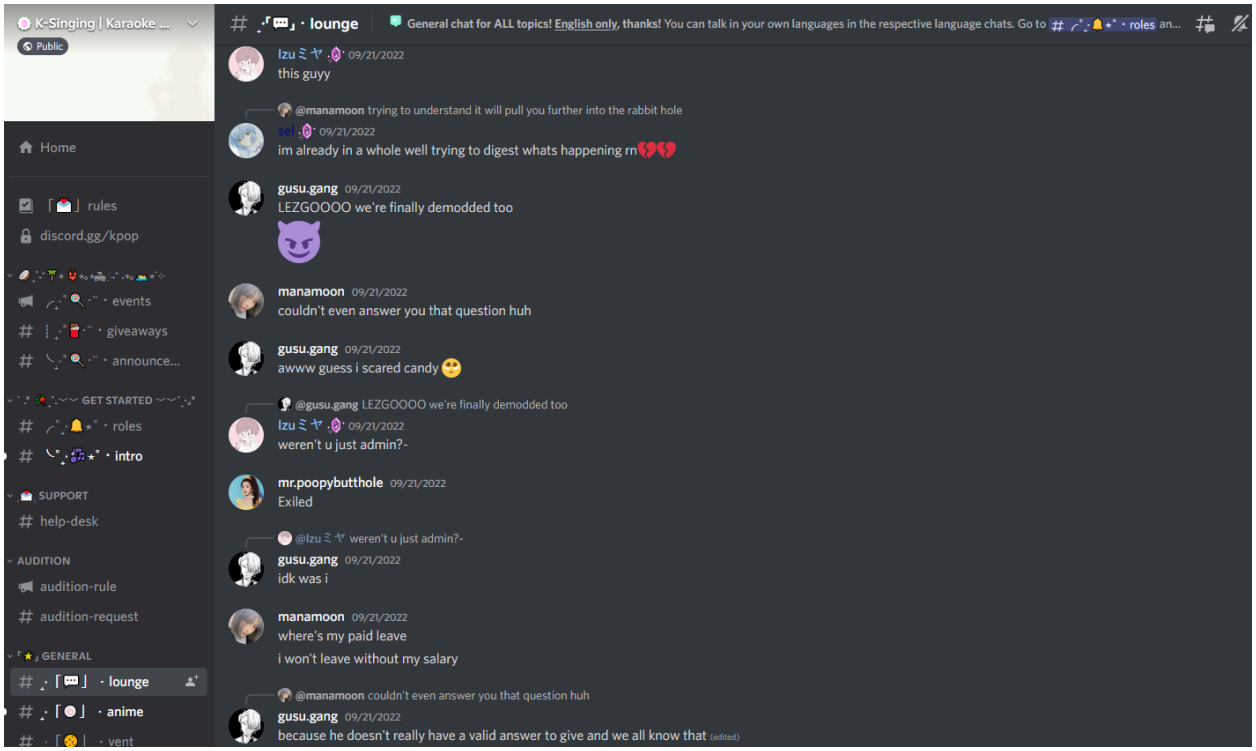
JinSang (guitar man) 09/21/2022
gaga isnt banned

Some staff members point out how “gaga” was still banned, but also how they could not see the discussion in “mod-vc” because of the purely cosmetic staff roles they were given. [Image link]

Candy explains to staff member “gusu.gang” to use the public “voice-chat” channel. [Image link]



gusu.gang points out how they were deleted of staff roles, while later saying that Candy “doesn’t really have a valid answer to give” in response to why he was doing any of the things that he was doing. [Image link]

Member “.xanax” comes online asking about what was going on and “asdf” explains. Their response to this is “My spidey senses tell me that that decision was stoopid”. The staff discussion effectively ended here, but there are some remnants of messages that were deleted by Candy. [Image link]

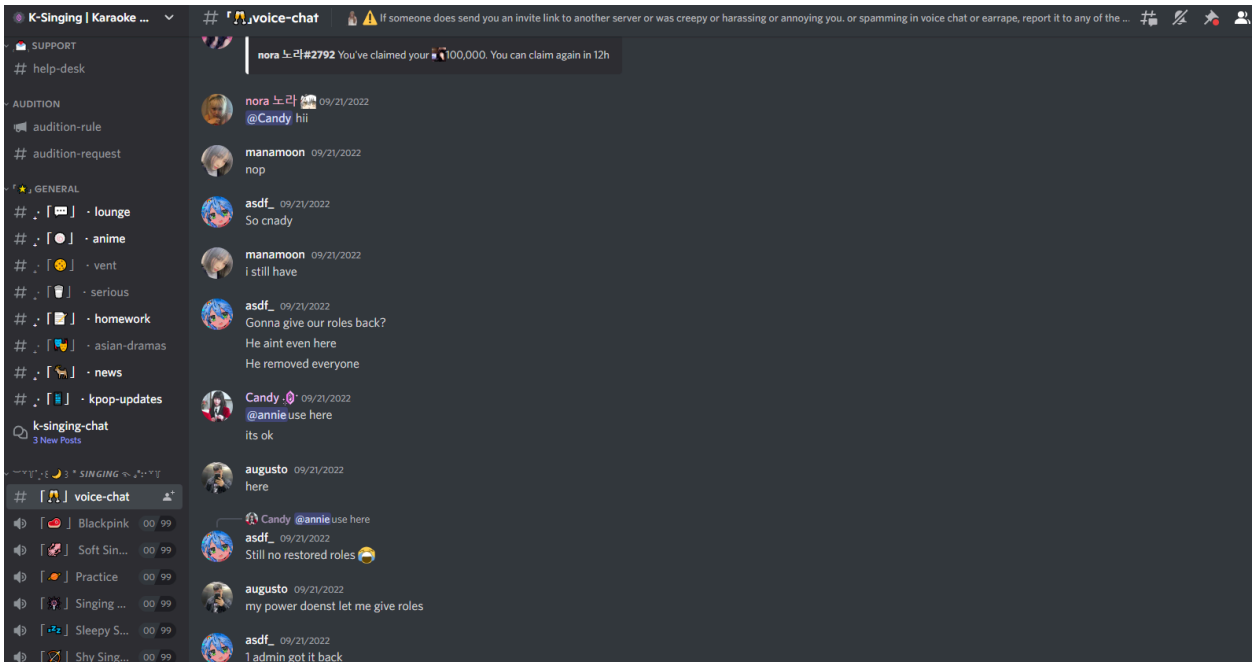
Additional screenshot. It can be assumed that the replies including “Original message was deleted” were either sent by Candy, explained the situation in a way that did not create a bias towards Candy, or was from a banned staff member. [Image link]

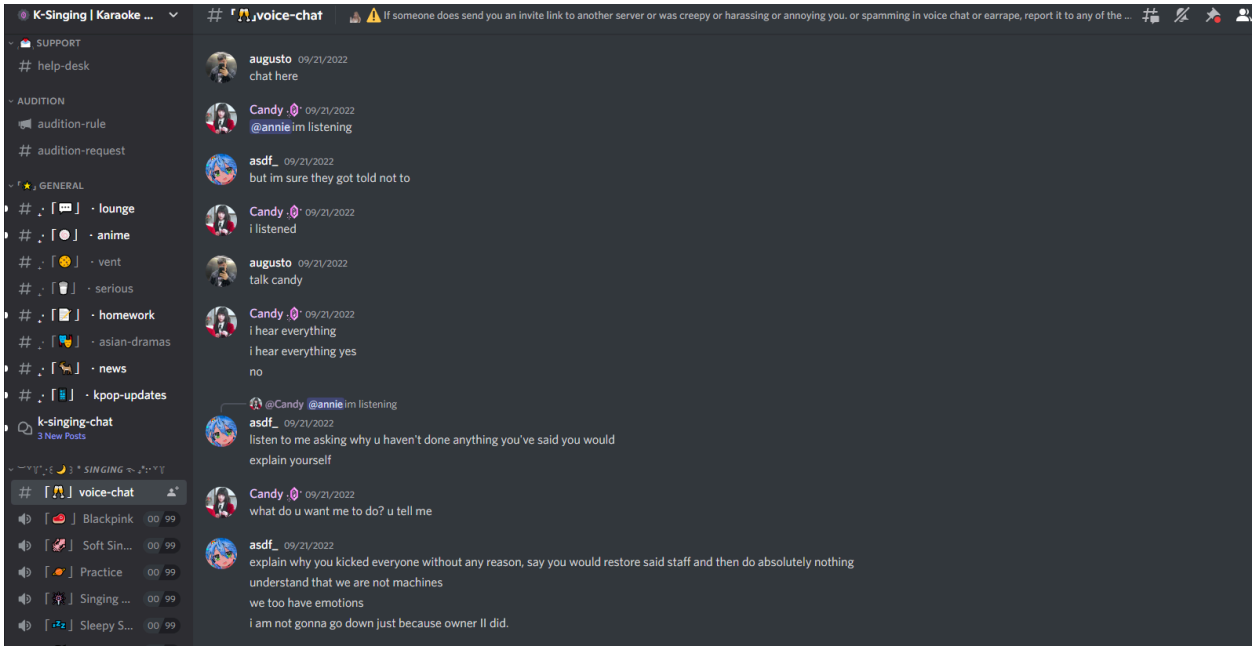
Additional screenshot. Staff member “thighs” tells member “rara” to “ask candy” for a staff position, also suggesting he would just give it to anyone who asks. This was likely a tongue-in-cheek comment, but ended up being exactly what happened. [Image link]

“mod-vc” Voice chat

After every single staff member had been removed, people began questioning what was going on and why Candy was refusing to communicate with any of them. While Candy did not say anything to any staff, various members had been given roles with no clear explanation or knowledge beforehand. As the then-deleted staff tried to piece together what was happening, eventually Annie and a few others joined a voice chat with Candy, which would become locked and filled with almost every staff member from K-Singing, named “mod-vc”. Despite this VC going on for hours nothing substantial came out of it. The discussion can be summed up as Candy staying silent for much of it, with the only thing of any relevance being “sorry. make the hosts active”. Candy made several empty apologies throughout the voice chat and saying he “promised”, but never specified what exactly it was he promised. Relevant screenshots will be shown below with a description of what the context was.



The start of the “mod-vc” voice chat. Staff member “asdf” asks about the status of the staff roles, while Candy tells Annie to speak in the voice-chat channel. [Image link]



Candy pings Annie saying “im listening”, but only does so after Annie tries to explain what had happened, why Candy’s response to it wasn’t okay, and if he was paying attention at all. Curiously, Candy did not reiterate a single point Annie had made while in the voice call. [Image link]

Candy asks “asdf” what they wanted done, and they explain. Staff member “asdf” replies to a message, but it appears to be deleted. This is exactly why the server was backed up when it was, and this specific reply happened to be saved. [Image link]

The same interaction above, from the backup before Candy deleted much of his replies. It can be assumed that staff member “ikki” was speaking about Annie, to which Candy says “she were saying bullshits and being annoying the ban was not forever”. Candy never elaborated what the “bullshits” were and Annie was not given any explanation or warning about the ban she received. [Image link]

It appears “asdf” receives a staff role back, but quickly points out how much of the channels that were previously there, including the one where this situation started, were not visible. Another user checked and saw that the channels were in fact still there, but hidden to everyone except Candy. [Image link]

ikki reiterates how Candy originally reverted the staff roles before deleting them, and “asdf” points out how an admin’s roles were restored to only be immediately removed once again. Another deleted reply is visible here, of which was also saved in the backup. See below.

The same interaction from above, from the backup before Candy deleted his reply. It can be assumed that Annie was talking about Candy and his lack of any meaningful input into the discussion, to which he says “ok but u dont listen to me too.” Candy never showed any proof of lack of listening on any of the staff’s part. Not only that, but this may have been an attempt to justify why Candy could not prove he was listening to any of them.

Candy 09/21/2022
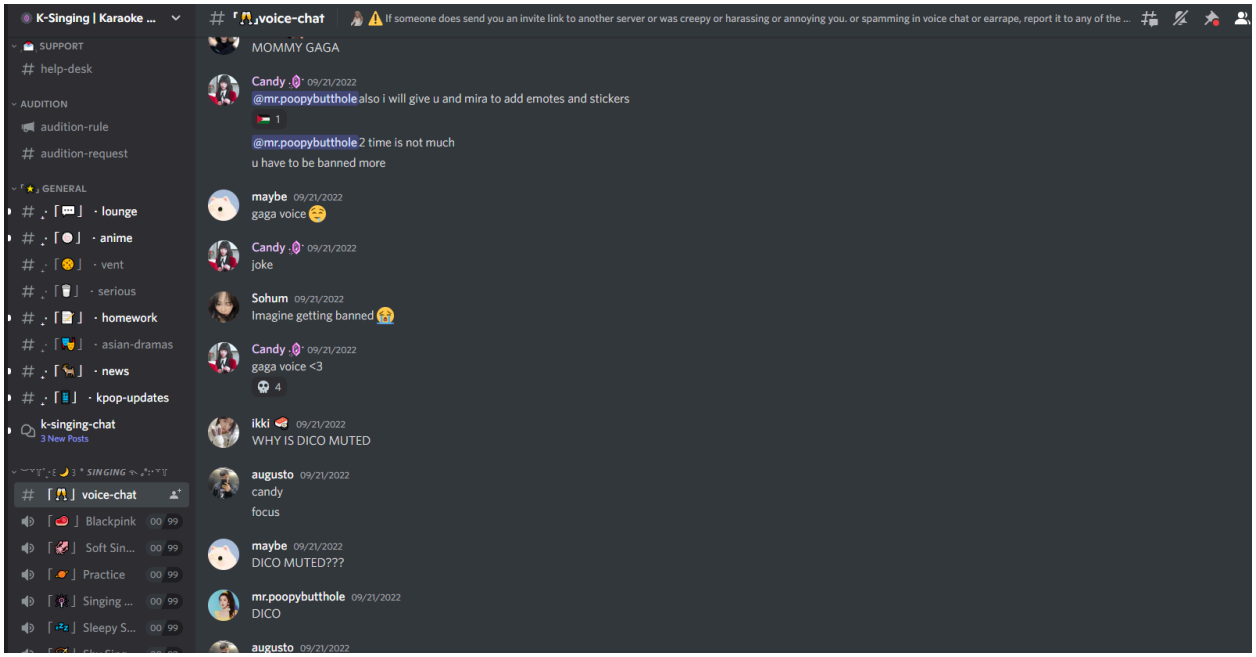
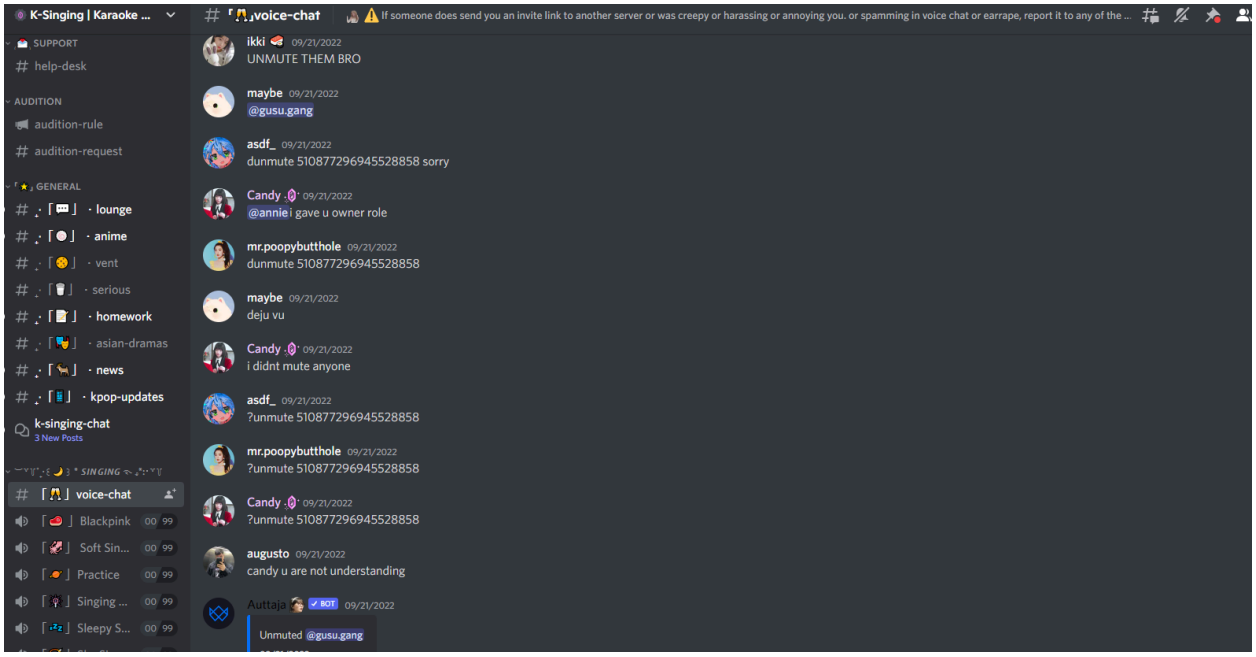
@annie are u reading this chat?
asdf_ 09/21/2022
we put so much effort in this sh.t
we have eyes.

"asdf" claims Candy was not focused on the manner at hand. Candy's response is "what u did today remind me of riz. u made mods to hate me. when i did too much to this server too". It is currently unknown who "riz" is, but zero proof of "mods to hate me" is shown. Making blanket statements with no attempt to follow up on it appears to be a common theme here. It is a shock this message was not deleted. [Image link]



Candy says that "gaga" "have to be banned more", and then says "joke" to indicate that it is, well, a joke. Whatever the intention of this was, it was not exactly appropriate given the timing and may point to how little Candy took any of what he was doing seriously. [Image link]

While the voice chat was going on, Candy sent (and swiftly deleted) messages pertaining to how gaga's voice sounded as she unmuted herself to say what she thought about what was going on. Not only is this an example of how Candy was not taking the situation seriously enough, but gaga is 16 years old and Candy is known to be in his late 20s or early 30s. There are also older examples of similar messages visible. [Image link]



Several staff members ask why “dico” is muted, and then everyone who was given the cosmetic-only staff roles attempted to unmute the user. The lack of any bot response completely shatters any attempt at making the roles seem legitimate. Candy also says that he gave Annie “owner role”, but this cannot be confirmed. It didn’t matter in the end as Annie was banned again by Candy. [Image link]

Discussion takes place on the “fake mod” staff roles, to which Candy says he needs to “give bot roles again”. If this is true, it could’ve been avoided if Candy chose to stick with reverting the roles instead of outright deleting all of them. [Image link] asdf questions if the cosmetic-only staff roles will ever be fixed, and the then-staff “augusto” (referred to as “guto” earlier on) tries to get everyone back on track. asdf’s reply saying “Depends what you want done. We are not dogs” has another deleted reply attached to it, assumed to belong to Candy. This reply was unfortunately not saved, so unless someone comes forward with screenshots, it is unknown what it said. One can infer that Candy was asking the staff to make the server “active”. Image link

It can be assumed that thighs is replying to the same deleted reply of Candy’s, and the assumption of what it says also fits here. Image link

Candy pings Annie saying “can u listen to me only time”. No matter how one interprets this, it attempts to convey the idea that Annie did not “listen” to any of Candy’s suggestions or comments while she was co-owner. [Image link]

Candy 09/21/2022
zen is here too

Then-staff guto says “i don't understand why u cant have a real conversation with them candy they have been here to help u”. Candy speaks of a “host application” that he claims was not published, accusing Annie of lying about it. Originally, Candy said that the form was a “joke”, but then backpedaled saying “I wanted to see who applies.”, all without contacting a single staff member beforehand. [Image link] [Host application in question (closed)] ikki asks Candy if he talked about the host application to anyone, but asdf, guto, and dico all reply to a deleted message by Candy. Sidenote: How would two people apply if the form was "never published"? Said deleted message was recovered in the server backup and was another attempt to smear Annie's reputation in the server. Image link

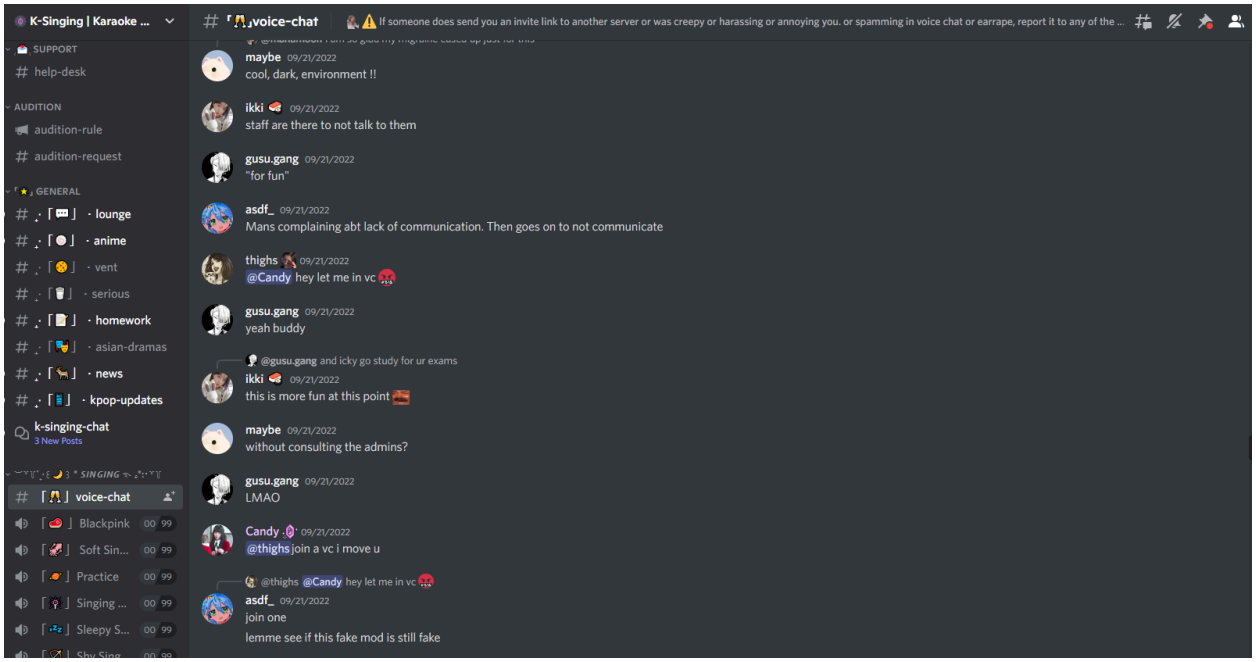
The same interaction from above, from the backup before Candy deleted his reply. Candy pings Annie, saying "i was mad bc u were not here and admins was not here when so many people applied for host". The 3 staffs' replies become more understandable here, as not once did Candy communicate this complaint outside of this voice chat. This also leaves out how the host applications have been left dormant for over a year. Image link



Some of the messages appear to be replying to missing context, and checking the backup of the server indicates there were two messages Candy sent about said host application before deleting them. [Image link]

Candy 21-Sep-22 10:52 AM
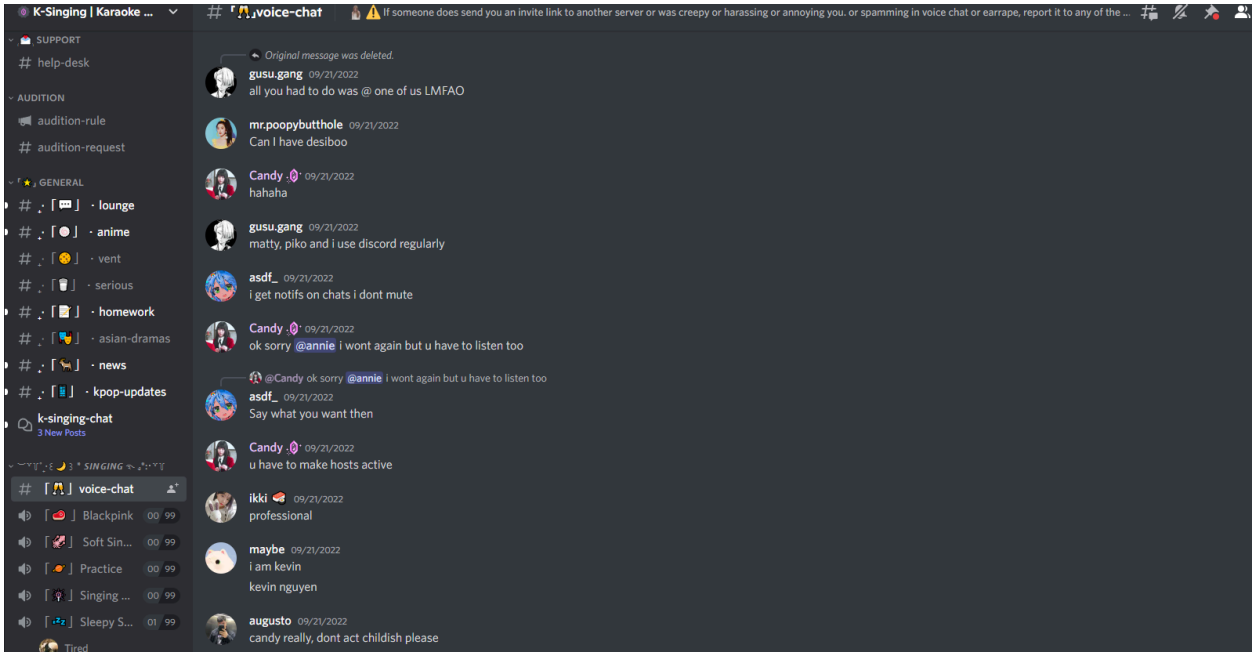
@thighs join a vc i move u

The same interaction from above, from the backup before Candy deleted the two messages the staff were reacting to. Candy's first message reads "i was watching how many people applied and if i can give them host again . also i just made it fun kinda", and his second says "yeah bc i didnt have perms to that host application". It's unclear why Candy deleted these messages, but it likely boils down to not wanting to accept any sort of wrong move of his. It seems he made the host application on his own without contacting any of the staff or hosts about it, and deleting his messages conveys he did not want to show that he made the form in the first place. [Image link]



The staff explain their activity patterns, while Candy pings Annie saying “ok sorry @annie i wont again but u have to listen too”, saying “u have to make hosts active”. Not once did Candy attempt to elaborate what he meant by this or how she should go about making “hosts active”, nor did he say what he was sorry for. There is a deleted message of ikki’s here, showing what the aforementioned host application looked like. As the staff were banned not long after the voice chat, Candy was the only person who could’ve deleted the message. Image link

The same interaction from above from the backup before Candy deleted ikki's screenshot of the Host application. ikki mocks its lack of professionalism, but that is really it. There is no good reason why this specific message would be deleted. Image link

Ex-host eight asks what is going on and asdf fills them in, also replying to Candy's "u have to make hosts active" message, saying that "No issues were fixed". Candy's priorities were focused on a piece of the server which had laid dormant for over a year, rather than the issue that was unfolding in front of him. [Image link]

Multiple replies to a deleted message are visible. Candy asks the deleted replier "dont post it on twitter" "please", almost, if only for a brief second, showing that he did understand the implications of what he was doing. Fortunately, the deleted message was saved in the backup and shows a screenshot of Candy banning both Annie and gaga, without reason. [Image link]

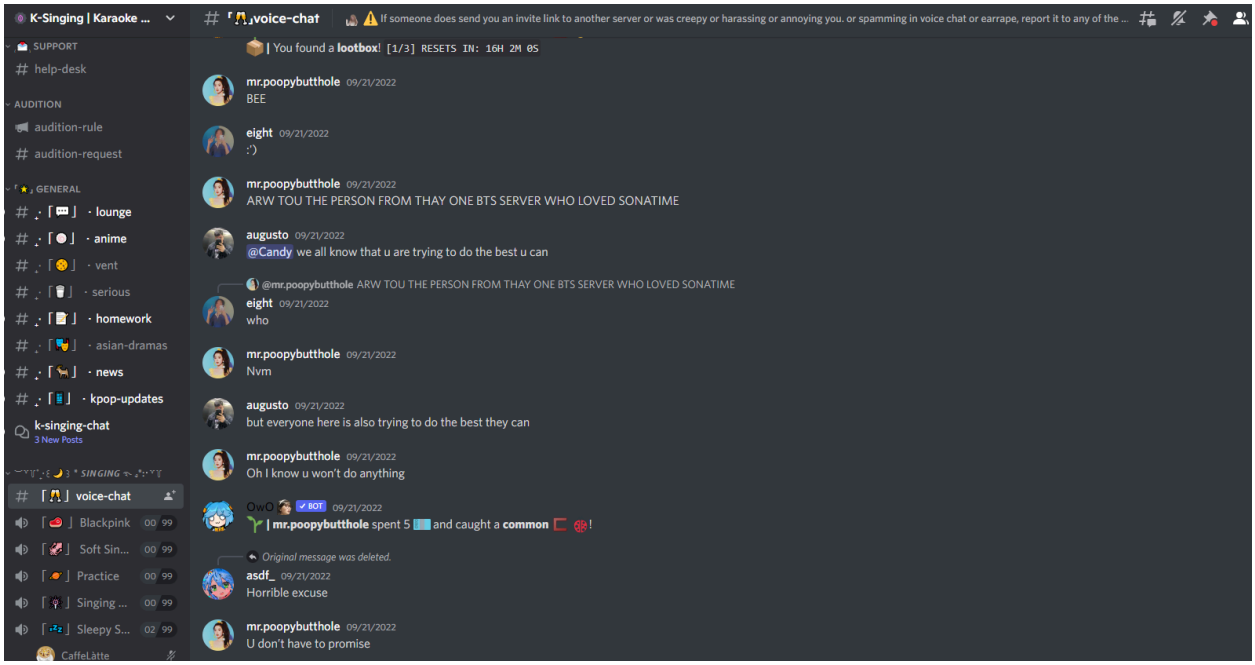
The same interaction from above from the backup before Candy deleted gaga's screenshot of him banning Annie and gaga. Notably, no ban reason is stated and they were done within one minute of each other, showing the haste Candy had in silencing Annie's explanation, while also being very slow to output any response to the voice chat or the "lounge" chat. Image link



Much of the context is missing due to the deleted message, which unfortunately wasn't saved. It is, however, a good example of Candy going out of his way to delete evidence of him speaking rather than actually attempting to fix issues. Image link

This mostly talks about the cosmetic staff roles and how they were unable to see log and other staff-only chats that were previously visible. As stated before, the channels were not deleted, and likely only hidden so someone couldn't catch up on what they missed.

The staff talk about the irrationality of them randomly deciding to "nuke" the server, with Candy saying "also im sorry about everything.". This sentence would mean anything if Candy was able to name a single thing that he was sorry about doing, which he failed to do. [Image link]

Hey guys

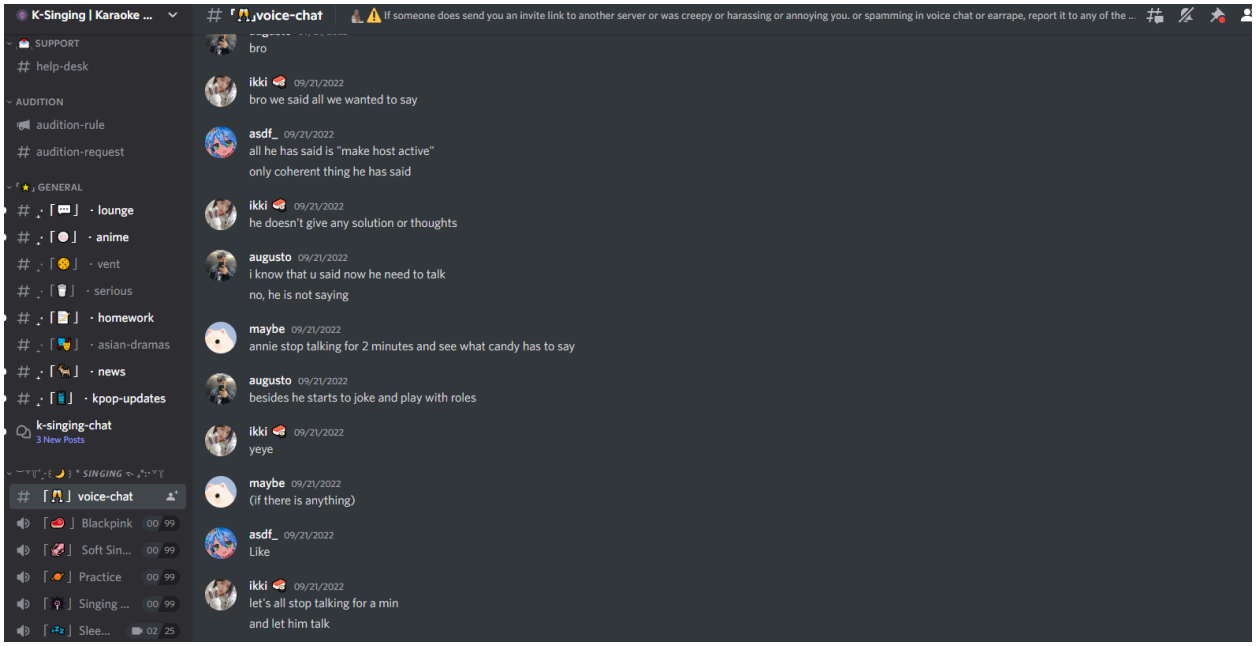
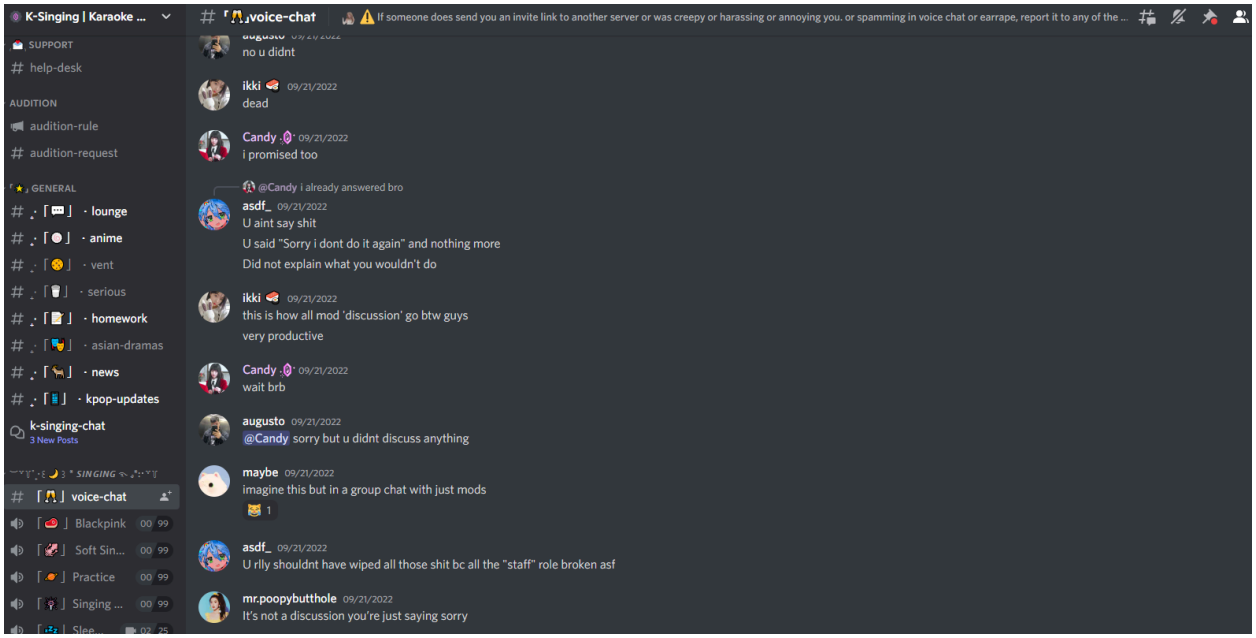
Another unrecovered deleted message by Candy is seen here, but context clues piece together that he said something along the lines of if someone was screen recording their interactions. gaga saying "Candy stop joking like you didn't just demote your entire staff team over emote suggestions" seems relevant here also. [Image link]



After Candy asked about screen recording, some staff members suggested that Annie stop saying anything at all to really prove if Candy had listened to any part of the discussion. [Image link]

Notice the quote by Candy at the bottom saying "i already answered bro" in response to the screenshot above. Also notice how there was no answer. Perhaps he thought his nondescript "sorry for everything" and "make the hosts active" was an "answer"? [Image link]



Much like the last two screenshots, Candy says an empty statement and makes no attempt to prove it. He states "i promised too" but does not say a single thing that he promised. [Image link]

1- makes a 'joke' about demoting staff . which we actually don't know if it was really a joke or not 2- host application that was made by a 5 years old when we already have one
3-welcome messages added that can be abused by trolls
4- mods will nuke my server omg i have to delete the roles rn
@mr.poopybutthole But if you keep unbanning groomers and making orgasm emotes then don't wonder why we're getting cancelled

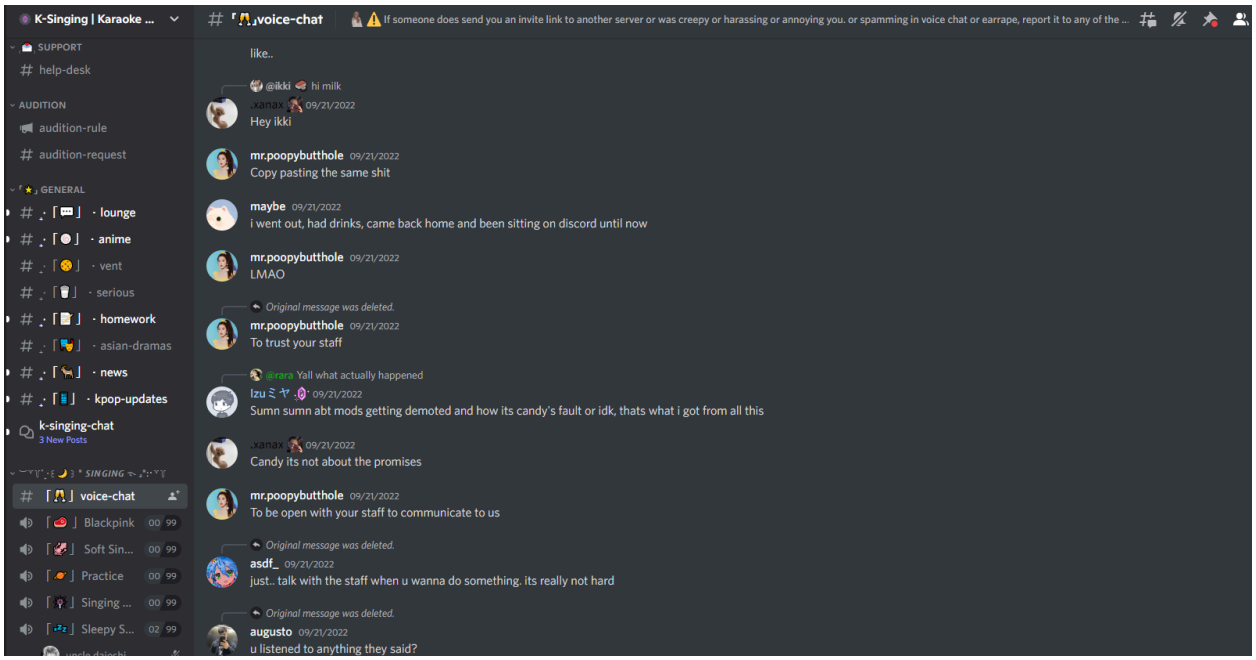
Candy asks Annie if she was "here to talk" despite showing little to no interest in doing so himself. It should also be pointed out that Candy has not knowingly unmuted himself once in a single voice chat in K-Singing. [Image link]

Candy says “u want to talk like this not fixing problems”. Once again, asking people to “fix” things while he refuses to hold himself accountable or say a single sentence about what he is going to do. [Image link]

Another example of Candy being very quick to respond to jokes while being unwilling to respond to any serious discussion. This voice chat really did go on for four hours. We wish this was the end of the document, but it’s far from it. [Image link]



Another question, another deleted Candy response. It can be assumed that he asked what they wanted of him, didn't like the answer, and deleted the message. His original message was unfortunately not backed up. [Image link]

A staff member tells Candy to simply own up to his own mistakes and admit when he is in the wrong. Candy does not respond. [Image link]

Candy eventually sends a message in the voice chat, only saying “yeah yeah talk like this.”. As expected, he does not define what “this” is. [Image link]

More deleted Candy messages, also not backed up unfortunately. Judging by the replies, it was yet another empty promise he would rather try to hide than explain. The cosmetic staff roles also show their part here. [Image link]

Another deleted Candy message with intact reply. Nothing new at this point. Likely another empty promise. [Image link]

Candy makes a claim that he will “fix the roles”, then says that Annie “can’t ping everyone to start drama”. It is true that Annie included an @everyone ping in her departure announcement, but to say it was to stir “drama” doesn’t understand the implications of why any of this happened in the first place. On that note however, Candy has posted (and deleted) several messages in announcements about how these staff members have “bullied” him, @everyone ping included. Image link

its all annies fault

Candy says “u guys have to listen to me too”, despite making zero contributions to the discussion rather than making the hosts counterpart active again. Furthermore, he says “its all annies fault” when one of the staff members says they have to go. This goes to show that Candy would place the blame on anyone else if it meant trying to keep his ego intact. Annie did not delete the staff or take major actions without talking among them first. Image link

Candy doubles down on placing the blame of his misguided actions on someone else. There's also an unrecovered deleted message of his here too, likely another empty promise. Image link

even the newly recruited mod agrees with us

Conversation loops back around to Candy reverting the staff roles before deleting them. augusto, the "newly recruited mod", becomes banned from the server not long after this voice call ends. It can be assumed that he was banned merely for agreeing with the staff and not Candy. [Image link]

Thighs says "YEAH I LOVE HAVING MY MESSAGES DELETED" with a deleted message reply directly below. Unfortunately not saved in the backup, and there isn't enough context to infer what the message originally was. [Image link]

Candy says "u guys dont listen to me thats why. i already said wallahi i listen and said i will do whatever annie said". It is important to remember that the only input Candy had in this discussion was to make the hosts counterpart of the server active, and nothing more. Not only that, but he refused to provide any proof of engagement outside of deleting messages of his saying that he "promised", without saying what he promised. [Image link]

Candy states "they dont listen its ok" to a deleted reply. The original reply was not present in the backup, but this is yet another example of Candy doubling down on not taking any accountability for himself. Once again, all Candy contributed to the discussion was "make the hosts active". Candy did not add anything else in the manner. [Image link]

Candy has enough and begins asking people to “stop talking about this”. Member zenake, who eventually becomes moderator overnight, says “hope yall dont delete this again”. Only one person in the server had the ability to delete messages at this time. [Image link]

@Candy Wwwaaaaaaa
ikki 09/21/2022

thighs 09/21/2022

Candy doubles down on placing the blame on others for the third time. His message reads “i did they dont listen. i cant be here now i have to take care of my grandma. thank you for helping btw”. As stated before, his only contribution to the discussion was “make the hosts active”. [Image link]

Candy pings Annie saying “i told them the truth”. There is no message to go along with this “truth”, so it is questionable if he really said anything. The best guess is that he was attempting to place his false narrative of Annie “raiding” the server as the “truth”. [Image link]

Candy pings .IC, an eventual staff member, saying “i told u the truth she were raiding”. Candy makes zero attempt to prove how Annie was “raiding”, and truthfully, if it was a “raid”, the channels would certainly not be visible still. One would think Candy would understand the definition of a raid after several bot accounts have spammed the server. [Image link]

Candy pings Annie multiple times, first saying “yeah yeah tell more people make more people hate me good job” and “why u pinged everyone why u gave mod admin perms”. Not only did she explain to Candy why she was going to do that prior, Candy’s first message is a gaslighting attempt, albeit a simple one. He tries to place blame and guilt on others, saying that Annie made more people “hate” him. There is no example of any “hate” to be found in this discussion by any staff or server member while this was taking place. [Image link]

Candy moves his attempts to paint Annie as in the “wrong” further. It has been stated too many times that Annie told Candy about the role permissions prior, and the roles she did delete were made solely by her and were not being actively used for anything. Candy’s second message, which reads “why u pinged everyone u made people leave i never ping everyone" completely crumbles later on after he bans much of the staff. To say that he did not want them to see him scramble his own story would be a possibility. [Image link]

Hello everyone, please don't forget to boost this server and invite your friends too. We really need your help to make the server great again since school started,
Some people left since they were busy with school and exams.
I will give 5b momo currency for each boosts the so the total is 10b if u boost twice!!.. plus please don't forget to invite your friends.
Also we're adding new emotes, new roles in the shop and new karaoke events soon, so please support us.
if you want u can practice and sing on Practice or New Singers please remember that if anyone is harassing u or saying anything bad or troll or spam you can report it to me.
With your momo currency you can buy new roles for display or you can gamble it too!!
To buy a new role to display in ur profile type in momo-others .shop and pick your desired role and type in `.buy (number)
Btw im always working on my bot and i made so many cool commands too that not all bots have it like tiktok downloader insta downloader kpop updates
Please go to the https://top.gg/bot/388331085060112397 and review my bot with 5 stars .

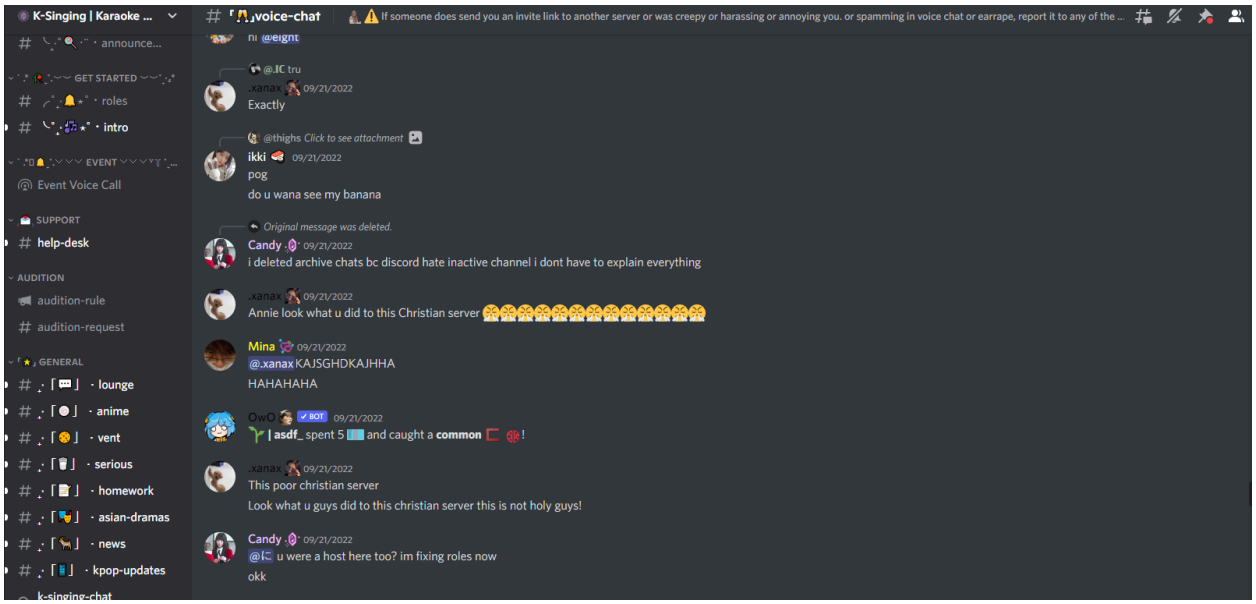
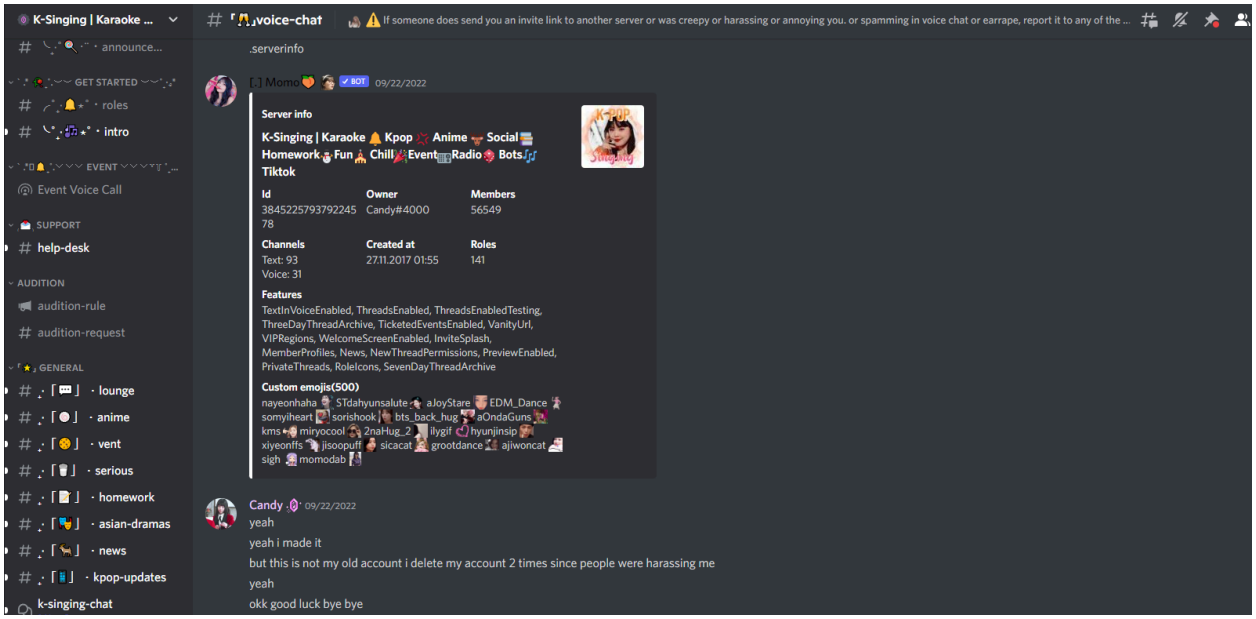
Read this too please we made some changes

Candy never pings @everyone? It's likely he meant that he never pinged @everyone for situations like what went on with Annie, but part of this message asks about "harassing u or saying anything bad or troll or spam", likely referring to anyone messaging any member of the server about what happened with Annie. Candy himself would go on to spam random members of the server, asking them not to listen to Annie, but that will be covered later. [Image link]

Top.gg disables the reviews on Candy's server bot. It's currently unknown if this was from recent negative reviews, or if his requests for people to vote the bot highly had anything to do with it. [Image link]



Candy says "i deleted archive chats bc discord hate inactive channel i dont have to explain everything" to a deleted reply. Unfortunately, the reply was not saved in the backup, but correspondence with those involved shows that the original reply involved "asdf" simply asking why old voice chat channels were outright deleted instead of being hidden. It's unknown why he deleted this message in particular, but further correspondence with others claims that asdf had contributed more to this discussion, but their messages were intentionally wiped out when Candy decided to ban them and the rest of the old K-Singing staff. You can choose to delete messages upon banning, and that can be seen here. No matter what the manner is, tampering with evidence is not a good idea. [Image link]



The last relevant screenshot about the voice chat. It is unknown if the staff members left on their own accord or were forcibly disconnected, but Candy can be seen talking with someone in the voice chat, namely saying “but this is not my old account i delete my account 2 times since people were harassing me”. Baseless claim aside, it is much easier to report Discord accounts for genuine harassment, so it’s questionable if this is what actually caused his previous 2 accounts to be deleted. [Image link]

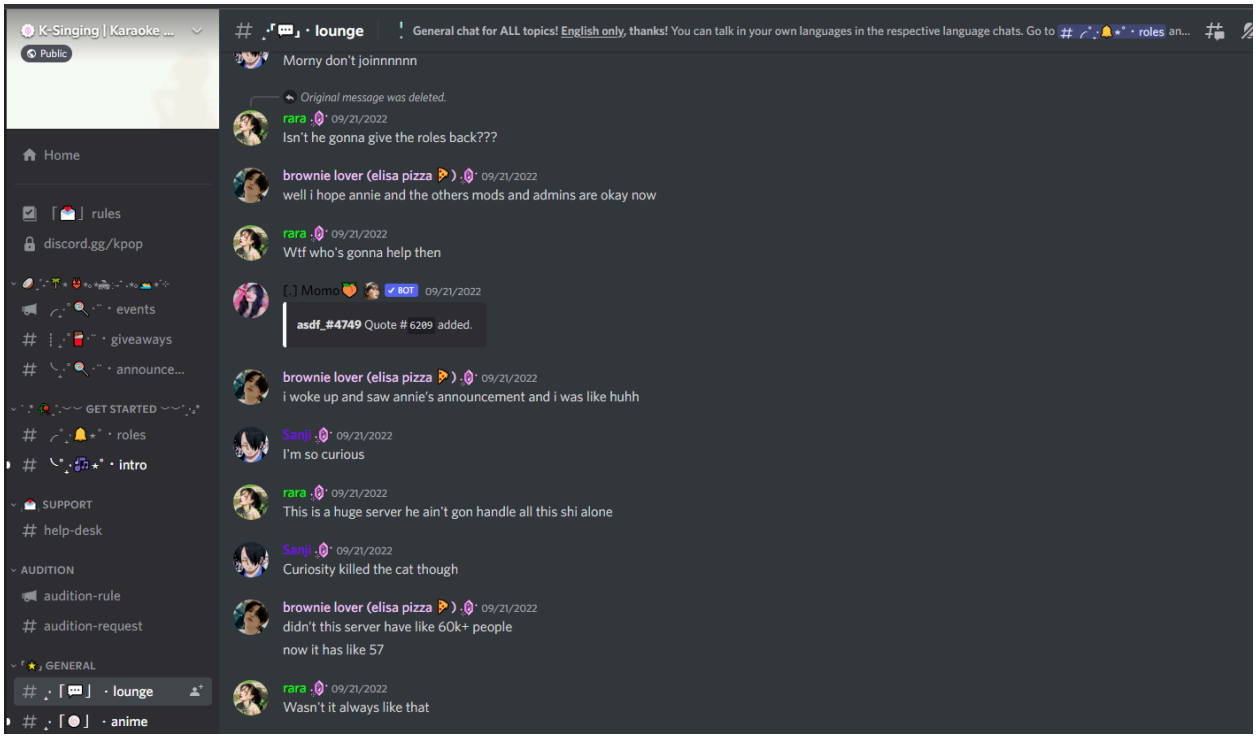
Attempted replacement of staff

While mod-vc was undergoing, Candy said he had attempted to “restore” certain staff members, but it did not take long before those who were restored figured out the roles were purely cosmetic and had no extra functions when compared to Member roles. It also did not take much time at all for every single staff member who was “restored” to be removed of all roles previously given to them, while various people, some of which are underage and some who have not even been in the server for a month were appointed as either moderators or admins. Judging by the hectic and mismanaged form of much of the staff and the arguments they’ve had with one another, it is clear that Candy is not giving these people any sorts of heads-up or tutorial when placing staff roles upon them. It has also been seen that several staff members have been removed for “inactivity” not even a full 24 hours later. Relevant screenshots will also be attached below. Some of these may be out of chronological order and be from outside of September 21st.

Member “guto” becomes moderator, seemingly out of nowhere. Staff member “ikki” notes that the new moderator had been assigned the role without going through either of the other staff roles before it, which is how it has been done in the server for at least 2 years.



More discussion among the members about what was going to happen to the server continues here. It becomes immediately clear that, originally, member “rara" was responding to an explanation of the situation by staff member “asdf”, but Candy had deleted all of the messages referring to this. He did not delete an auto-generated message by his very own Discord bot, which only shows up when you type “..” before a sentence. Rara would also go on to become one of the random members appointed as staff by Candy. [Image link]

Additional screenshot. Eventual staff “rara" posts a video lightly poking fun at Candy’s response to deleting every single staff member. Curiously, several members were allegedly muted or banned for similar acts, but “rara" was left without warning. Video Image link

“rara” with “Mods” status. Image link

User profile of “rara”, showing they have been on K-Singing for a little over one month. Before 2022/9/21, no known staff member went through the process of becoming moderator that quickly. [Image link]

Staff member rara explains how she became moderator on K-Singing, saying “Idk candy just asked me if I wanted to be a mod and I said yes”, proving what was initially assumed about the replacement staff team. [Image link] [Alt. image link]

K-Singing member Bamboo says the word “biatch” in order to convey the word “Bitch”, as the word gets auto-deleted on the server. brownie lover (elisa pizza 🍕) calls for them to be banned or muted for bypassing swear words, despite there being no rule about the use of swears in the server at the time of this writing. Judging by the fact that the user is no longer on the server, it can be assumed that they were muted or banned simply for the word “biatch”. Image link @queze @rara are u going to ban em?

rara Today at 11:56 AM
Well if they do something bad again I might imjust letting them slide this once since they are mostly active here
rara Today at 11:56 AM
Most of the chats get active bc of them too
So we will see what happens

Staff member rara says “Well if they do something bad again I might imjust letting them slide this once since they are mostly active here” “Most of the chats get active bc of them too So we will see what happens”. It’s currently unknown who exactly she was talking about, but playing favorites is not a great way to go about handling staff in a 50k+ Discord server. None of these messages appear to be visible anymore. Whether or not they were from a hidden channel or were deleted is also unknown. Image link

A since-deleted message by Candy in the announcements channel of K-Singing. He claims that he is going through "hard time now" and that "haters really want to hurt this server", in the form of "raid talk shit and abuse power too". Note that not once did he show any evidence of "raid", "talk shit", and "abuse power", and the "proof" he attempted to show was from Annie and Annie only, not any other staff member. He also says that "our mods are cool and nice now they don't abuse anymore or ban or mute for reasons.". He himself says that the staff team he hastily appointed does not ban or mute people for any legitimate reasons.[Alternative image link 1] [Alternative image link 2]

Candy blocks staff members and begins banning them from the server

After the "mod-vc" voice chat was finished, several staff members noticed that they were soon muted or banned from the server without any warning or reason. None of them were initially DMed a response from either server bot, so Candy did not provide any reason for muting them. It can be assumed that, like the deliberate deletion of specific messages, he was attempting to silence what the staff had to say in the manner and try to paint his false narrative as "truth".

A member asks a staff member why they were banned. They then go on to explain that Candy said they can come back if they are "chill", but does not explain what Candy's definition of "chill" is. [Image link]

Candy explains why Sohum is banned. There was no evidence of Sohum spamming to be found. [Image link]

A user notices staff member matty (manamoon) is also banned from K-Singing without warning or reason. [Image link]

Another screenshot showing the same thing as the last. This also shows Candy banning piko, a staff member who was present for the mod-vc discussion before unbanning alleged pedophile DarkFalcon.[Image link]

i think the whole annie clan hated me u see how many times i said im sorry and i promised them? when i didnt do anything but annie didnt stop and keep going

Candy complains about the staff giving him criticism for his actions, calling them "annie clan". Note that he mentions the apologies and promises but not once did he say what he was sorry for or what he promised. The only thing that Annie "keep going" was talking in the voice chat. [Image link]

Candy began banning various members, whether or not they were active, solely for the fact that they knew Annie. [Image link]

Candy completely wipes all traces of his responses from staff member thighs's DM. The context of their replies makes it clear that he did have messages there at a point, and it's bizarre that he would delete these ones specifically. thighs is one of two staff members to be unbanned from the server after much convincing. Candy never explained to them why they were banned in the first place. Image link

Message @Candy

Part of Candy's now deleted DM with thighs. Candy complains about Annie and the other staff not listening and how he "promised too so many times". As reiterated dozens of times on this document, not once did Candy say what he promised and the only output he gave in the conversation was to make the hosts active. He also used reporting a staff member's account to Discord for "raiding" as a threat. Discord does not ban people without evidence, and Candy either refused or was unable to produce any. No staff account has been banned from Discord for raiding or spamming. Image link but since u deleted everything u should delete everything i did in that server then the role menu, the admin role icon remove that too and the embeds i made and the server icon i made also you're dumb for making it look like i ordered everyone to hate you... they're not robots they can think for themselves and there's a reason why they hate you for years people had hated you and you still think it was for no reason?

i defended you several times i did so much shit to keep you server in order and in return you accuse me of "raiding" the server and wasting the effort i gave for that server?
for 4 years
i put time and effort to help you with your shit

Candy's only response to Annie is in the form of a ban reason. It reads "lol i saw how u guys stalking me and raiding servers. Shut up and leave us alone. i gave u enough time to run the server now go talk shit more and say shit more" As usual, no evidence of "stalking" and "raiding servers" is given. It's also curious that he mentions he gave Annie "enough time to run the server" as if he had plans of trying to kick her out without reason beforehand. Image link

The two images above go with the following description. Candy claims staff member guto was “listening” to another staff member as they “raided” the server, going on to say “i thought u are my friend” in hopes to get a response out of them. Not only that, indi did not make any alt accounts to “raid” the server, let alone make any alt accounts at all. [Image link 1]

hi everything is good just look at # announcements and dont listen to anyone u can report raiders to me

Candy messages a member saying that “everything is good”, to check the announcements channel, and “dont listen to anyone”. This is no doubt referring to Annie’s side of the story. Candy outright says to not listen to what she or any of the others have to say or what their explanation was. Another attempt by Candy to smear what had gone on between them. nothing they like to raid server stalking and exposing people numbers and more when all are fake.

Candy tells a member “nothing they like to raid server stalking and exposing people numbers and more when all are fake. u can join them too i know u dont trust my words when annie make people hate me and got mad like that.” in reference to the staff. As already stated before, nothing in this message holds any truth. No servers were raided and no “stalking” has been done to Candy. Doubling down on a gaslighting attempt by saying that Annie “make people hate” Candy can also be seen here. [Image link]

Candy 09/21/2022
@SoHo there is no drama u already know mods abuse and muted u so many times i saved u
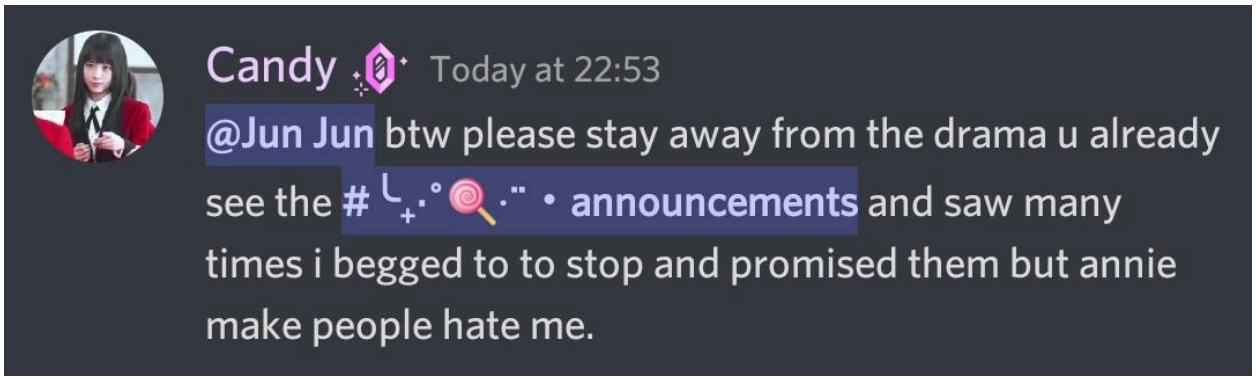
mods always abuse annie gave mods admin perms too

Yet another example of Candy dodging responsibility and producing false information about the staff. “Annie told Candy about the staff role permissions prior to doing so” has been repeated far too many times. He also claims to have “saved” the member by banning each of them without reason or explanation. [Alt. image link]



Candy Today at 22:53
@Jun Jun btw please stay away from the drama u already see the # announcements and saw many times i begged to to stop and promised them but annie make people hate me.

Yet another example of Candy’s complaints about empty promises. Once again, Candy did not ever say what it was that he promised, and deleted messages of his when asked what it was he was promising. He also never asked anyone to stop doing anything, only using charged language such as “u guys dont listen to me” when confronted about his actions. [Image link] u joined there to watch what im doing there but i dont anything im active in my server most of the time.

For context, K-Mafia is another Discord server that Candy has staff access to. On September 21st, Candy began banning various staff members from the server without any given reason, only claiming that them joining was a form of “drama” and that they were “never there”. Candy was making baseless assumptions about the staff simply joining a server. It’s curious to see that he was complaining about “abusing power” and “stalking” when these appear to be two pretty good examples of both on his part. [Image link]

The three screenshots above go with the following description. The false claim of a staff member “raiding” with “10 alts” reappears here. Notice that this was said about two different staff members each time, and Candy was unable to produce any evidence of either of them doing this. Image link 1 Image link 2 Image link 3 jinter was literally inactive for months and returned only to plug his insta wdym active and when he was active he got into trouble

piko Today at 9:02 PM
Nah candy if u dont care about the safety of members on ur server im not gonna do shit anyways Its just extra headache for me so im good

asdf Today at 9:03 PM
just coming in but yea i saw those ss and that was genuinely creepy. u cant let that disgusting freak take advantage of vulnerable people, like the person who came forward
Candy Today at 9:03 PM
i care but we didnt get report last year to 2022. but u banning for fun.
asdf Today at 9:03 PM
it was a legitimate reason?
piko Today at 9:04 PM
Yes ofc i just ban people randomly Anyways
Good luck with your server
Have fun
piko Yes ofc i just ban people randomly Candy Today at 9:08 PM
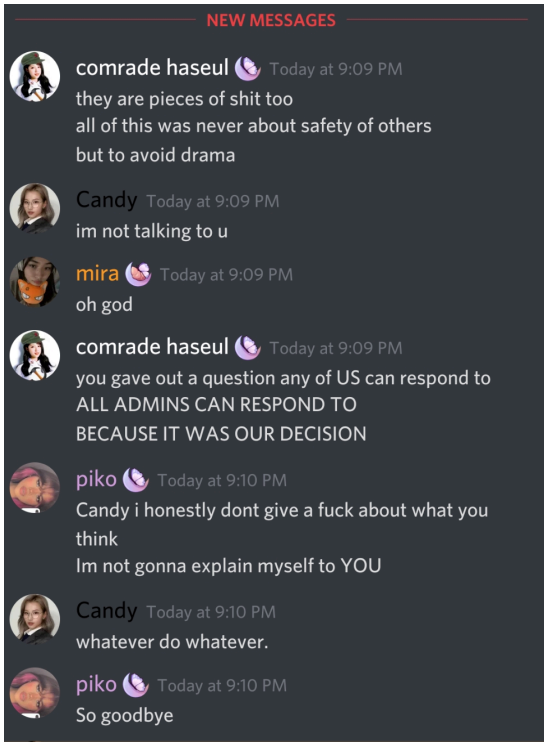
i mean u are not here. i worry about the drama that happen after banning him. what if he tells people mods are abuse their power.
comrade haseul Today at 9:09 PM
wow, we abuse power by banning someone for disgusting allegations that he himself admitted to? if people rally behind him, then i mean



NEW MESSAGES
comrade haseul Today at 9:09 PM
they are pieces of shit too all of this was never about safety of others but to avoid drama
Candy Today at 9:09 PM
im not talking to u mira Today at 9:09 PM
oh god
comrade haseul Today at 9:09 PM
you gave out a question any of US can respond to ALL ADMINS CAN RESPOND TO BECAUSE IT WAS OUR DECISION
piko Today at 9:10 PM
Candy i honestly dont give a fuck about what you think Im not gonna explain myself to YOU
Candy Today at 9:10 PM
whatever do whatever.
piko Today at 9:10 PM
So goodbye

The conversation that led up to piko leaving the staff team in K-Singing. More evidence that Candy was more concerned about a member's activity in the server rather than the fact they were ousted for grooming someone. It is interesting at the least to see Candy use the very same "abuse their power" lie that he did months ago. Uncut image link

Candy informs Sohum that he is now unbanned from the K-Mafia server. Note that Candy does not own the K-Mafia server and banned many of the K-Singing staff members before they even joined, and gave no explanation whatsoever as to why. Sohum also never made any attempt to "spam with alt or raid" in any server. first of all trust me and dont listen to anyone if they dmd
u or wanted u hate me. @mod Candy is typing...
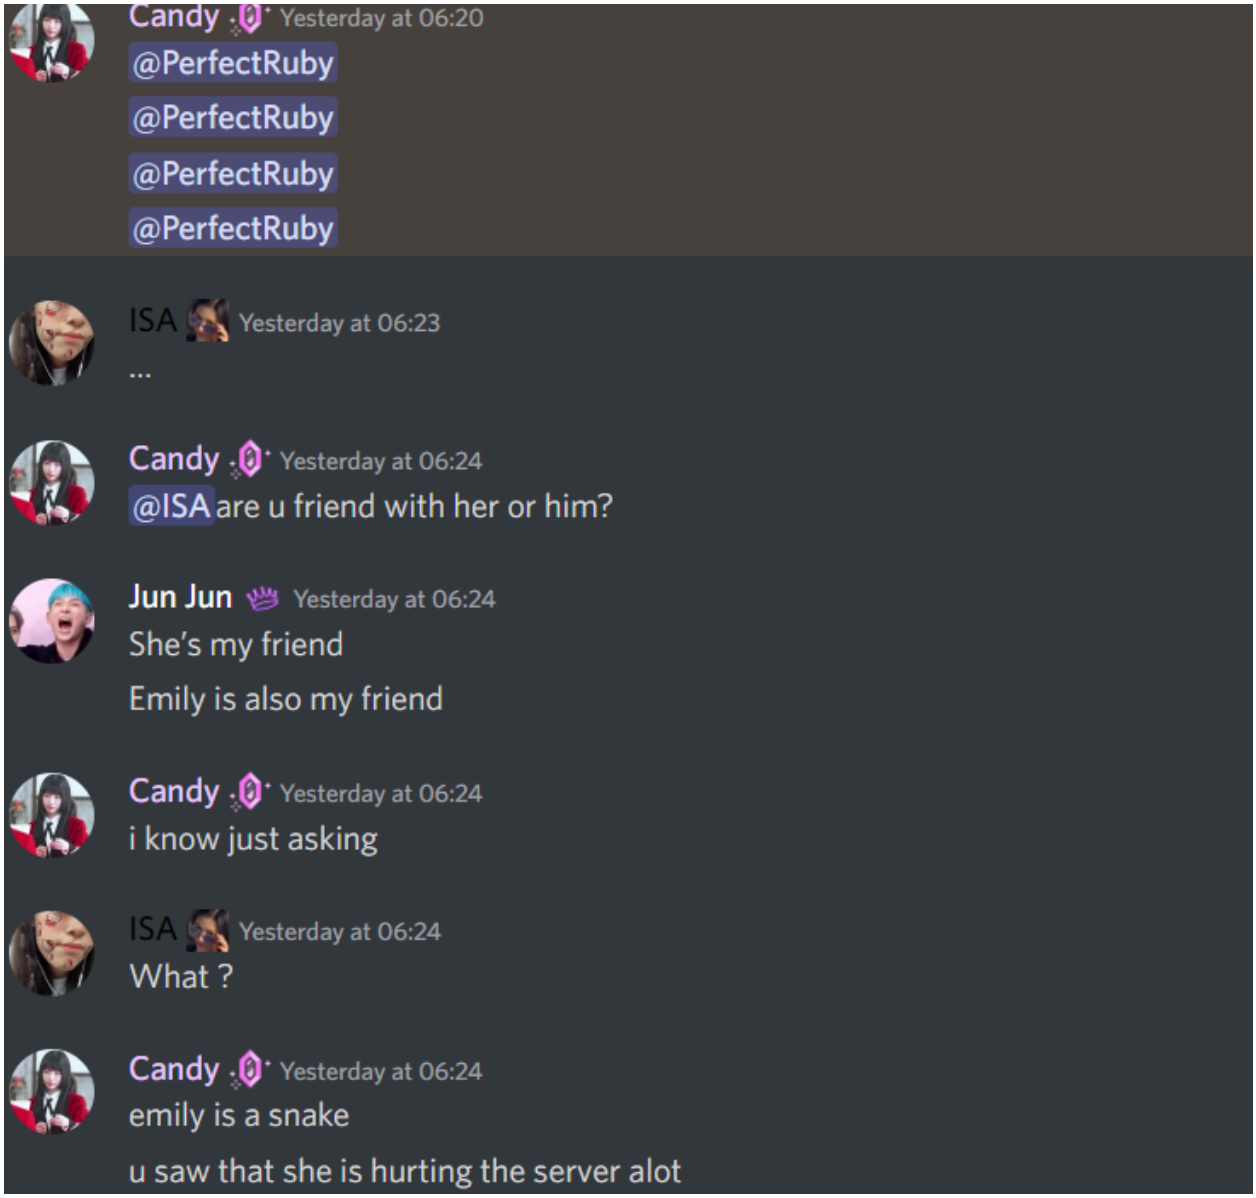
Message #mod-chat

Candy tells the newly appointed moderators “dont listen to anyone” if they messaged them about any information regarding Annie. Another attempt at concealing anything that wasn’t his side of the story. [Image link]



Candy begins spam pinging a server member solely for the fact that they gave a bad review on his Discord server bot. The screenshots below show their conversation in DMs, of which Candy would also completely delete his messages a day later. Image link

Listening to both sides of a story is not being “loyal” to someone? [Image link]

i hope everything is okayyy im so sorry to hear that candyy

Apparently, people that explain what goes on in a situation are “kids that annoy” Candy. The screenshots below show the conversation after Candy had deleted every single message of his. Image link

u already know ikki Aujourd'hui à 16:52
but what u did is not cool Candy Aujourd'hui à 16:53
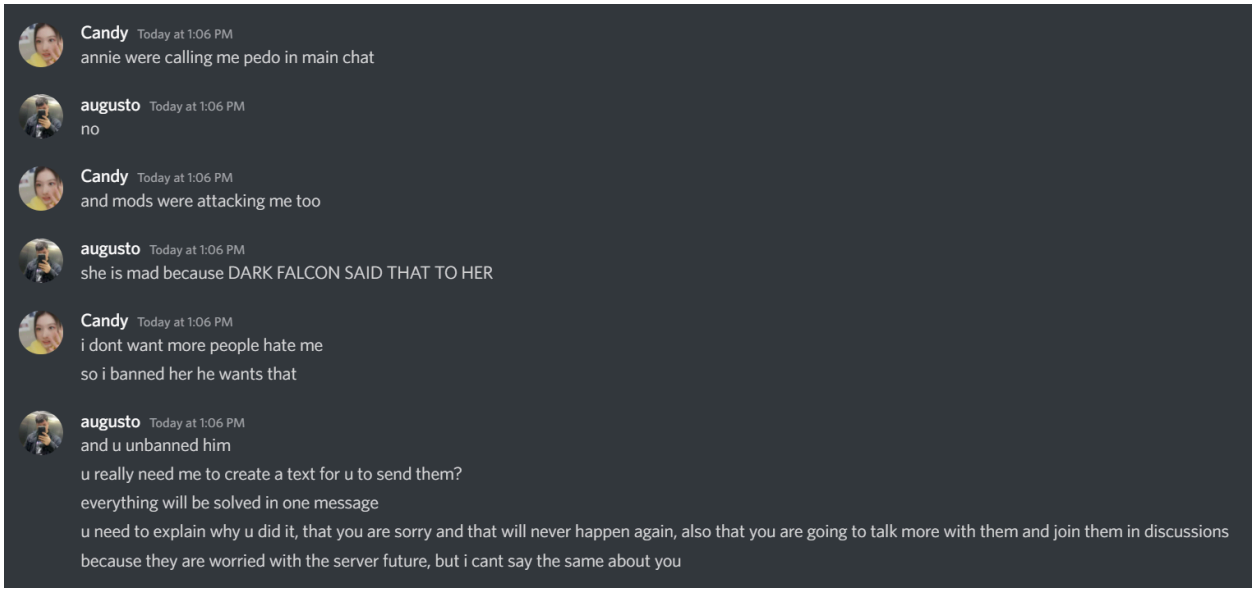
what did i do?
annie gave mods admin perms to raid

Once again, another example of Candy dodging responsibility and placing the blame entirely on Annie. There was never any evidence that Annie "wanted to raid and started drama". As said in the beginning of this document, there would most likely have been no problem if Candy reverted the roles and left it at that like he originally did. Image link



Candy Today at 1:06 PM
annie were calling me pedo in main chat augusto Today at 1:06 PM
no
Candy Today at 1:06 PM
and mods were attacking me too
augusto Today at 1:06 PM
she is mad because DARK FALCON SAID THAT TO HER
Candy Today at 1:06 PM
i dont want more people hate me so i banned her he wants that augusto Today at 1:06 PM
and u unbanned him
u really need me to create a text for u to send them?
everything will be solved in one message u need to explain why u did it, that you are sorry and that will never happen again, also that you are going to talk more with them and join them in discussions because they are worried with the server future, but i cant say the same about you

Guto tries to piece together what Candy is saying but ultimately comes to no conclusion. Not once did Annie call candy “pedo” in the main chat during this situation. No mods “attacked” Candy either. It’s important to restate that Annie was banned by Candy while in the middle of explaining what was going on in the server. [Image link]

Candy Today at 12:54 PM
i gave u mod to help me and make them chill not fighting with me u see how many times i said sorry to them and promised augusto Today at 12:54 PM
thats not what is happening
i told u it was not a fight and u didnt focused on the main thing
Candy Today at 12:54 PM
even tho i didnt do anything
augusto Today at 12:54 PM
i focused on solving server roles issues thats the last thing you are going to do first = people they are just mad because u just removed them all candy
bro ive been team working since idk 2016 in jobs and in army so i know how people act in situations like that look at the size of this server you should NEVER deal with it like that you are killing the server and they wont come back a good friend reminder: listening is different from understanding

Effectively the same thing as the previous screenshot. Candy once again tries to show that saying “sorry” and “i promise” without explaining what he is apologizing for and what he is promising is justifiable. Considering he would go on to delete many of the messages saying this in the server, he may have had other ideas. Apparently banning an entire staff team and not listening to what they have to say in a manner is not doing anything either. Image link

Conclusion

It is a shame to see the owner of a Discord server with tens of thousands of people in it act the way they have and be so adamant on dodging any slither of responsibility, accountability, or wrongdoing. It is very concerning that this many pages of one person's behavior is what it took to explain and show their actions, which they tried very hard to cover up. We would include a potential message for Candy in this document, but truthfully it is hard to tell if it would be worth typing it out. To say there is an overwhelming feeling of disappointment would be a massive understatement. If Candy ever decides that he wishes to recognize that people are not perfect machines, perhaps he can revoke the unprovoked bans of ex-staff members while not unbanning people who are known for problematic or pedophilic behaviors. We believe they are all entitled to an actual apology with any form of substance.

While it is up to you on what you decide to do with this information, a recommended course of action would be to leave the server if you are in it.

Server Backup

As shown by Candy's way of handling what has gone on in the server, a backup of the server's chats was made on the day that the entire staff team was banned without explanation. This has been done in the event that Candy deletes all evidence of the arguments taking place in the server, of which some of his announcements have already been deleted.
